SOFIA, Sept. 8.—Elections were held throughout the country yesterday, resulting in a great triumph for the Government. Prime Minister Stambuloff and other Ministers were elected in three different districts and many seats were gaind.

Sister Rose Gertrude's Troubles.

HONOLULU, Aug. 24, via San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 8.—Sister Rose Gertrude is the focus of a storm in Hawaii. On her arrival from England instead of being sent to the Molokai leper settlement, as was intended, she was placed in a receiving hospital at Kalihi, two miles from Honolulu. This is where all persons suspected of leprosy are examined, as are also some of the lepers selected by Dr. Lutz, a specialist lately arrived from Germany. Recently the community was surprised by an announcement in a morning paper that Sister Rose had stated to a reporter that unless certain matters were remedied by the Board of Health she would resign the same day. Representative W. Kalua, a native member, moved in the Legislature for a select committee to investigate the complaints made by Sister Rose against the management of the hospital. He related that he took this action at the request of the sister. The committee was appointed and took the testimony of many witnesses at the institution. It has been announced to the House by the chairman of the committee that, owing to the importance of the subject, the report of the committee would be printed before its presentation. The sister's chief complaint is that Charles Kahalaki, resident overseer of the hospital, himself detained as a leper, has interfered with the affairs of herself and the doctors. She charges him with advising patients not to take the prescribed medicines and counseling them rather to trust in God and practicing some of the arts of the Hawaiian Kahuna, or medicine man. It is complained that Charlie made patient's work when the sister, as nurse, under the order of Dr. Lutz as a physician, prescribed rest; also that, although a leper, he takes the freedom of the town. Most grievously is Sister Rose incensed, however, over the offensive remarks that the overseer is reported to have made freely among the inmates about the sister's going out for airings with the doctor. His gossip having got beyond the hospital into the city increases the offense, especially as a former Minister, who is also an ex-member of the Board of Health, told the Roman Catholic Bishop that it might be necessary for the Board of Health to demand the sister's resignation. The cause of all this talk is that the sister and doctor have sought recreation from their unpleasant duties in jaunts in the surrounding country, amusing themselves by amateur photography on the way. Sister Rose demanded of the Board of Health the summary dismissal of the overseer. The board was in the midst of an investigation of her charges, when she complained to the Legislature. The only countercharge made by Charlie is said to be that the sister threatened that if patients did not testify against him she and the doctor would leave the place, which would break up the institution and necessitate that they all go to dreaded Molokai.

Row in a Theater.

LONDON, Sept. 8.—An exciting encounter took place last night in the lobby of Drury Lane Theater. Harris & Pettit's new play, "A Million of Money," was the attraction and the house was filled. Between the acts Mr. Whistler, the artist, met Mr. Moore, editor of the Hawk, and proceeded to chastise him for having published a severe criticism. Accounts of the affair differ materially, but all go to show that Whistler began hostilities. An account considered reliable goes to show that Whistler slipped out in the foyer between the third and fourth acts and struck the editor with a cane. Moore defended himself by knocking his assailant down. Horace Lingard, it appears, then rushed at Moore and fared no better than Whistler.

The fracas caused a decided sensation in the theater.

The Exiled Grenadier Guards.

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Sept. 8.—Since the arrival of the Grenadier Guards at Bermuda they have had no parades owing to the fact of having no clothing to appear on parade in. The uniform worn in England is not suitable for a warm climate, consequently the regimental tailors have been busy fitting the new clothes the Guards will wear during their stay here. The new uniform consists of a light scarlet tunic with royal blue facings, blue pantaloons with red stripe and white helmet with pugaree and grenade in front. Yesterday Lieut.-Gen. Newdgate, who is about to go to England on a short leave, ordered a parade for inspection at 7 a. m., and expressed great pleasure at the showing of the regiment.

The Kaiser and Labor.

LONDON, Sept. 8.—The German Emperor continues to give his chief attention to social and industrial questions. Two messengers, direct from the Kaiser, recently visited Mr. Woods, President of the Lancashire Miners' Federation, with a view of obtaining information regarding the condition of British miners, and the same messengers, it is said, are about to visit the United States with a similar object. The Kaiser has given orders that the regulations for the protection of workingmen, and particularly as to the hours of labor for women and children, shall be strictly enforced throughout the empire.

The Trades Unions Congress.

LONDON, Sept. 8.—Ben Tillott, speaking at a large meeting of dockmen yesterday at Tower Hill, said that while he deplored the fact that the recent Trades Unions Congress at Liverpool was at times disorderly, yet he was sure the workingmen would be satisfied with its proceedings when they observed the importance and scope of the business transacted. In fact, he averred, the Congress had accomplished more in a week than parliament was accustomed to do in a year.

Russian Persecution of Hebrews.

LONDON, Sept. 8.—Rabbi Adler, at the services which marked the opening of the new synagogue in Hammersmith, declared that he had received an unquestionable confirmation of recent statements in the newspapers as to the persecution of Hebrews in Russia.

The Barrundia Family Banished.

CITY OF GUATEMALA, Sept. 8.—The Barrillas Government has decided to exile the daughter of Gen. Barrundia, who made the attempt on the life of United States Minister Mizner. It is believed that other relatives of the deceased General will be ordered to leave.

A Diplomat's Opinion.

BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 8.—Mr. Samuel Kimberly, Secretary of the American legation to the Central American States, said yesterday that as far as he knew the State Department had the most perfect confidence in the present Minister to Central America. He does not believe that serious complications will grow out of the Barrundia matter.

Dominion Finances.

OTTAWA, Ontario, Sept. 8.—The total net debt of the Dominion of Canada on Aug. 31, 1890, was $236,559,930. At the close of the fiscal year, June 30 last, it was $238,048,638, being a decrease during July and August of $1,488,708. The total expenditure on account of consolidated fund for these two months was $4,274,434. The revenue for the same period was $6,525,691, showing a net surplus of revenue over expenditure of $2,251,157.

A Banquet to Wissmann.

BREMEN, Sept. 8.—Baron Wissmann of East African fame was given a banquet in this city last night. In the course of a speech which he made he announced his design of placing steamers on Lakes Victoria Nyassa and Tiamganyika. He also said he would go to England to arrange for the construction of vessels for service on the lakes.

Cardinal Manning and the Miners.

BRUSSELS, Sept. 8.—In his letter to the Social Science Congress, now in session at Liege, Cardinal Manning urged the establishment of eight hours as a working day for miners, that no women be employed in mines, the observance of Sunday by the workmen, and the adoption of a sliding scale of wages.

A Big Strike at Southampton.

LONDON, Sept. 8.—The dock laborers, coal porters, sailors and firemen at Southampton have struck against the employment of nonunion men. The strikers have placed pickets at the railway stations, who menace nonunionionists who are going from this city to take their places.

The Floods in Austria.

VIENNA, Sept. 8.—The Finance Minister is blamed for his miserly policy in regard to providing protection against floods. It is claimed that entirely insufficient appropriations have been made for this purpose. The Emperor has given nearly $10,000 personally for the benefit of the sufferers by the floods.

A Portuguese Protest.

OPORTO, Sept. 8.—A meeting was held here to-day to protest against the Anglo-Portuguese African agreement. Several of the speakers made violent attacks upon the Government. The police finally interfered and broke up the meeting.

The LaBruyere-Mermeix Duel.

PARIS, Sept. 8.—The seconds of M. LaBruyere in his duel with M. Mermeix, charge the latter with having wounded M. La Bruyere in the hand after his sword had been lowered at the command of the seconds to halt.

A dispatch from Zanzibar says Emin Bey has arrived at Unkamyembe.

AT CRESSON SPRINGS.

President Harrison Combining Business and Pleasure—Official Acts.

CRESSON SPRINGS, Pa., Sept. 8.—The President started in to work early this morning and sent a budget to Washington in the first mail. It contained the nomination of Charles Scoville of Indiana as Surveyor of Customs for the Port of Evansville, Ind., being the first appointment made by the President since his arrival here. He also issued an executive order in pursuance of a section of the naval appropriation bill, providing for the appointment of a commission to select a suitable site for a dry dock on the Pacific coast north of the northern boundary of California. The members of the commission are: Capt. T. O. Selfridge, U. S. N., President; Col. George H. Mendell, Corps of Engineers, U. S. A.; Hon. Thomas A. Platt of New York, Hon. Richard W. Thompson of Indiana, and Lieut. Andrew B. Wyckoff, U. S. N.

The President's system was somewhat run down when he reached here, but he is feeling much better now and speaks in the highest terms of the healthfulness of the place. His appetite is good and his spirits are bright, and the languid feeling which oppressed him in Washington has almost entirely disappeared. He and Mrs. Dimmick were the guests of ex-Congressman Ward and wife of Chester, Pa., this morning in a drive to Loretto, a beautiful spot in the mountains, about five miles distant, where is located a famous Catholic convent. The party spent some time there and enjoyed their visit very much. Private Secretary Halford has established an office in the Mountain House, where all executive business will be transacted, and where announcements will be made of all official acts. He said this morning that so far he has not been compelled to call for any clerical assistance from Washington, and he did not think it would be necessary.

Bitten by a Rattlesnake.

CLARKSVILLE, Mo., Sept. 8.—Martin Sheridan of Hannibal, superintendent of the telegraph service on this division of the Burlington Route, was severely bitten by a vicious rattlesnake, near Forgey's Bluff, south of this city, Sunday morning about 10 o'clock. He had gone there to repair a wire which had been broken by the falling of a tree, and while in the woods was bitten on the ankle. He was brought to this city and put under medical treatment, but at this time his leg is swollen to an enormous size.

MAFFITT WON'T RUN.

HE POSITIVELY DECLINES TO BECOME A CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS.

What Is Said of Ed Butler's Position in the Ninth District Contest—Why George Bain Was Ignored by the McFall-Pohlman Central Committee—General Political News.

Chairman C. C. Maffitt of the State Democratic Committee stated very emphatically this morning that nothing could induce him to be a Congressional candidate. Saturday and yesterday a number of his friends conceived the idea of entering him for the Democratic nomination to get around the difficulty caused by Jim Butler's candidacy. Their argument was that Butler would give Mr. Maffitt a clear track if he cared to ask for the nomination.

Mr. Maffitt was seen at the State bank by a POST-DISPATCH reporter to-day and asked if he had authorized anybody to present his name in connection with the Ninth District nomination. He said: "I have no ambition whatever to be a candidate, and there is no inducement to get me in the field. I have a number of reasons for emphatically stating that I do not care to go to Congress or make an attempt to get there. But I do want to see the Democratic candidate elected, whoever he may be. It is of the utmost importance to our party that we carry the next Congress and for that reason we should nominate our strongest man. I am confident that the Ninth District Democracy will take the same view of the matter and put up a man that can defeat the Republican nominee."

When questioned concerning Jim Butler's candidacy, Mr. Maffitt had nothing to say.

KEHR MIGHT RUN.

Chairman Lutz is authority for the statement that ex-Congressman R. C. Kehr will accept the nomination if it is offered to him. Dr. Lutz's delaration in favor of Mr. Kehr, Saturday evening, was the subject of much conversation among the politicians yesterday. Dr. Lutz, while friendly to the Butlers, is nevertheless extremely opposed to the candidacy of the City Attorney. His main objection is that Butler cannot poll the party strength, and if nominated will injure the chances of the other nominees. Ed Butler still insists that his son will remain in the race to the end. The active part he took in the Congressional Committee Saturday evening has been commented freely by politicians. The anti-Butler leaders say that Ed Butler has clearly demonstrated that his game is to get himself in a position to dictate the nominee in the district. They argue that Jim Butler's candidacy is a blind and for the sole purpose of putting Butler senior in a position to tell the convention who should receive the nomination.

Why Committeeman Bain Was Slighted.

Republican Central Committeeman George Bain of the Twenty-second Ward, the lone Silk Stocking in that organization, and his friends are very indignant over the very cold treatment given him by Chairman John McFall in the appointment of the sub-committees. Four committees were appointed and every member given a place excepting Mr. Bain. His name does not appear in any, though there were over twenty-eight places assigned. The friends of Mr. Bain say that there is a Hoodlum combine in the committee to control nominations for the city tickets, and say that steps will be taken to defeat its purpose.

Mr. McFall tells a different story. To a POST-DISPATCH reporter, he stated to-day that Mr. Bain had been ignored through his own fault. "If Mr. Bain had not tried to dictate the committee," he said, "he would have been appointed on the Executive Committee, the most important of all the sub-committees. Mr. Bain sent up word that he would go on the Executive Committee or not at all. There was no necessity for his trying to dictate to the Chairman whatever, as I had determined to place him on that committee."

Chairman McFall's explanation goes to show that he disciplined Mr. Bain for making such a demand. It may be, however, that a compromise will be made and the lone Silk Stocking given the place he asked if he still desires it.

The Second Ward followers of Slupsky are still vowing vengeance against Pohlman and the City Committee for ousting him to make room for Maloney. Slupsky's friends claim that he was entitled to the credit of having registered over 500 Russian and Polish Hebrews in the campaign two years ago, and that he has enough influence among them to change the vote to a material extent in the Second Ward. Their claim is the reinstatement of Slupsky or a Second Ward Republican bolt.

Seeking Woodlock's Seat.

Patrick Woodlock of the Ninth District Democratic Congressional Committee is in danger of being removed from that organization. A petition was presented at the meeting of the committee Saturday night asking that his seat be declared vacant on the ground that he was a non-resident of the ward he represents in the committee. The petition was signed by some twenty of the 1,100 Democrats in the ward, and the names it bore convinced the politicians present that it was a Butler move to get rid of Woodlock. The present committee was selected according to the ward boundaries and numbers as they existed prior to the changes made by the Redistricting Commission. This has caused considerable confusion which will not be straightened out until after the next convention. Though Woodlock is supposed to represent the Nineteenth Ward he is carried on the records as the Seventeenth Ward member. He lives in the present Nineteenth Ward, but is outside the lines of the old Seventeenth Ward. The committee appointed to pass on the contests is composed of Dug Crothers, E. H. Guion and L. W. Blanke. Two of these committeemen are considered sufficiently attached to the Butler interests in politics to recommend the removal of Mr. Woodlock. The latter's friends declare that if he is removed and a Butlerite elected in his stead it will materially prejudice the Democratic chances in the district.

Don't Want to Go to Congress.

A number of petitions issued by the Benton School of Social Science are in circulation asking that the name of N. O. Nelson be placed on the official ticket for Congress in the Ninth District. The petitions will be circulated and an effort made to obtain the necessary number of signatures to comply with the requirements of the Australian election law so as to secure the placing of Mr. Nelson's name on the ticket.

Mr. Nelson was asked to-day if he would run if the requisite number of names were obtained and he replied in the negative. "I have no desire to go to Congress," he said, "and consequently I do not wish to be a candidate or considered as one. If I had any ambition in that direction I would rather take a nomination such as is proposed than run on any party ticket. I do not want to go to Congress, however, and will not permit myself to become a candidate."

State Democratic Committee.

The State Democratic Committee will have an adjourned meeting to-morrow for the purpose of making additional appointments for speakers, who have volunteered their services for the campaign. Reports will also be received as to the condition of affairs in all the districts. The campaign has already opened in several parts of the State, and the committee will continue assigning speakers as fast as they are secured. A mass-meeting will be held in this city about the middle of the month under the auspices of the State Committee. The committee will try to have Senator Vest present on that occasion.

The Factions Unite.

The Jackson Democratic Club of the Thirteenth Ward was organized Saturday evening at St. Boniface's Hall. M. J. Brannan was elected President; J. P. Richardson, Jr., W. F. Haines, Michael McGee, Val Schremp, Martin O'Brien and M. Callahan, Vice-Presidents; William McNamee, Secretary; H. J. Hinsman, Treasurer, and M. McKeben and M. Ryan, Sergeants-at-arms. The organization of this club does away with any of the factions that have cut an important feature in the Thirteenth Ward for the past eight years. The Democrats are now united and peace and harmony prevails for the first time in the past decade. The old factions known as the Brennanites and the Murphyites are now extinct.

Political Notes.

The O'Neill Guards will hold a meeting to-morrow evening at Broadway and Ashley street.

A meeting will be held this evening at Conrad Huber's Hall, 5326 Bellefontaine road, to organize an O'Neill club.

The Seventeenth Ward Dramatic Club held a largely attended meeting Saturday night, at Twenty-first street and Franklin avenue. A cablegram was received from ex-Mayor George W. Allen thanking the club for its action several weeks ago indorsing him for Congress. Speeches were made by Alex Finney, Hugh Pattison and others.

THE MAINE ELECTION.

Speaker Reed Confident of Carrying His District—General Politics.

BIDDEFORD, Me., Sept. 8.—The election opened very quietly here. A large vote was polled the first half hour, but no disturbance owing to naturalization troubles has occurred. No special police officers were appointed for duty, and no deputy sheriffs or Federal officers are stationed at the polls. The prospect is now that the election will be as quiet a one as Biddeford ever experienced. Biddeford will probably give a Democratic majority of 150. Two years ago the majority was 401. Wardens acting for Democratic leaders are keeping a private record of all who present themselves at the polls and find that their names have been stricken off the list.

At noon the vote was very close, with the Democrats slightly in the lead. The Saco vote at noon showed a fair Republican majority. At Old Orchard the Republicans were well ahead. There has been no trouble here up to that hour.

Kansas Democratic Convention.

WICHITA, Kan., Sept. 8.—The State Democratic Convention will be held here to-morrow and already many of the delegates are in the city. Gov. Fleck's friends are working hard to have him placed at the head of the ticket, but knowing politicians incline to the view, that Charles Robinson, Kansas' first Governor, stands a better chance of winning the day. Robinson, it is claimed, can catch the Alliance and Resubmission Republican vote.

Reed Ahead.

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 8.—At noon the Republican ticket was ahead in six wards out of seven in this city with indications that it will have about 1,000 majority. Reed will have fully that and perhaps more in Portland.

Speaker Reed said this morning that he would carry his district by 1,000. He is kept constantly informed of the work and indications at the polls.

At 2 p. m. there is every indication that Speaker Reed will have a larger plurality in Portland than two years ago. The entire Republican ticket will have at least 900 plurality.

In C. R. Breckenridge's District.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Sept. 8.—Gov. Eagle will issue a proclamation to-day or Tuesday calling a special election in the Second Arkansas Congressional District to fill the vacancy caused by the ousting of C. R. Breckenridge by the Republican majority in the House. The date of the special election will be Nov. 4, the time fixed for the regular election in all the Congressional districts.

Wade May Retire.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 8.—The indications are that Congressman Wade's ill health will force him to decline the renomination tendered him by the Republicans of his district. He is at present a very sick man and has been warned not to expose himself to the excitement and hard work of another campaign.

A Good Deal of Scratching.

LEWISTON, Me., Sept. 8.—The election is passing off very quietly in Lewiston. There is a good deal of scratching and a smaller vote than usual is being polled. At noon the vote is very evenly divided. At Auburn a good vote is coming out, the Republicans leading well.

A RESTRAINING ORDER GRANTED.

The Western Distillery Co. May Not Manufacture Benedictine.

Judge Thayer this morning handed down an opinion in the case of the "Society Anonyme de la Distillerie de la Liqueur Benedictine de l'Abbey de Fecamp" vs. The Western Distillery Co. The opinion recites that benedictine is a liqueur made from a decoction of herbs growing on the heights of Normandy, and the best cognac, according to a recipe originally the property of the order of the Benedictine monks at the Abbey of Fecamp. On the dissolution of the monastic orders the book containing the secret receipt was sequestered and eventually became the property of the grandfather of Mr. A. Le Grand, Director-General of the present complainant company. This company was established in 1876 for the manufacture of benedictine, and claimed to have done a very lucrative business, its profits ranging from 350,000 to 500,000 francs per annum. Shortly before the entering of the suit the Western Distillery Co. commenced selling benedictine, using labels similar to those of the company and with a fac-simile of the signature of Mr. Le Grand.

There could be no doubt whatever that the defendants intended to deceive the public and deprive the plaintiffs of a part of its patronage and business by representing their own goods as having been manufactured by the French company. In the light of this fact it was very material whether or not the complainant company had an exclusive property in the word "benedictine." The only question really before the court was whether the plaintiffs were or were not precluded from obtaining equitable relief by reason of representations made to the public concerning the manufacture of the liqueur. It was claimed by the defense that the plaintiffs were guilty of misrepresentation in alleging that the benedictine they sold was made by the Benedictine monks. The Court thought the representations did not go so far as this, and that the label showed that the manufacturers were in business at Fecamp, the term "director-general" not conveying an idea of a religious organization. The defendants must be restrained from using the labels and circulars complained of, and must account for whatever profit they had derived from their illegal use.

The case is one in which considerable interest has been displayed. The much-contested liqueur has a singular history. The Benedictine order was founded by Richard I. of Normandy, who made grants of valuable land to the monastery. His son Richard II. made further grants and the order became extremely wealthy. When the monastic orders were dissolved and the property sequestered the monks dispersed, taking with them their personal effects. One of the monks took a book containing the recipe in Latin for the manufacture of benedictine, and he gave it to the grandfather of the director-general of the company with the long name which is now manufacturing the liquor. Mr. Le Grand is a personage of great importance in his own and neighboring countries, and is decorated with honors of almost every description.

An important change in the Catholic priests of this city is the transfer of Father Felix of the Passionists' Retreat to Louisville, where he has been elected Superior of the Passionists. Father Guido succeeds Father Felix as Superior of the Passionist fate.

A PASTOR ON THE POWER.

DR. MATTHEWS HAS SOMETHING TO SAY ABOUT THE WOODWORTH MEETINGS.

He Objects to Calling the Demonstrations Witnessed There Manifestations of God's Power—A Sermon Which Somewhat Surprised Centenary's Congregation—Ben Deering Talks About the Meetings.

Speaking of the "power" claimed by Mrs. Woodworth to be the power of the Holy Ghost, Dr. Matthews said in his morning sermon yesterday: "It almost makes me sick, now, to hear that word "power" used; it has been so lightly employed, so freely used to designate mere physical effects; it has been sacrilligiously used. I see it in the papers in connection with ridiculous proceedings. Please use some other word awhile, brethren, when speaking of divine influence.

NOT MANIFESTED THAT WAY.

The power of God is not manifested in such manner as is seen in mere physical contortions and dreams. It is an elevating and educating influence, and comes when we employ the agencies God has appointed. We get power by using what God has given us."

The statement was heard by many of Mrs. Woodworth's followers in the congregation with surprise. It was evidently a direct expression of Dr. Matthews in opposition to the claims of Mrs. Woodworth that the power of God comes upon her penitents.

Ben Deering says that Mrs. Worthworth's meetings are not half as sensational and peculiar as the great revival meetings held in Clark County, Ky., in 1806, when many of the leading Methodist, Baptist and Presbyterian ministers did the preaching. The people came from points a hundred miles distant and camped on the grounds for weeks. Hundreds of men fell prostrate in the woods and fields, clear away from the platform and out of reach of the sermons. It is said that some lay on the ground several days before regaining consciousness. Hundreds were converted. Many of the converts afterward became preachers themselves. The meeting resulted in a general religious reformation throughout the State. The preachers did not claim any healing or other special power, and were not singular or unusual in doctrine or method. Mr. Deering thinks the Woodworth meetings evidence of the power of religious fanaticism and superstitious ideas over ordinary minds. He says that in great revival meetings in this state he has seen many such remarkable things occur as have been witnessed at Mrs. Woodworth's meetings; but in every instance the person affected had been subjected to great religious fear or excitement, by overzealous friends, or by unusual outbreaks of religious fervor.

A KENTUCKY PREACHER'S VISION.

Said he: "I have heard intelligent converts state in public meetings that they saw wonderful things while in an ecstatic state following conversion. One of the most reputable and well informed Methodist preachers of Kentucky, claimed a few weeks before his death (quite recently), that he had been in direct conversation with the Lord while in a trance, lasting a whole day. His statement was published in the church papers and credited by many of his co-workers in the Kentucky conference. His eminent piety and unquestioned honesty forbade doubt in the minds of his friends. It was common among early Methodists to hear such testimony of remarkable experiences in the trance state.

TROUBLE AMONG MUSICIANS.

A Resolution Which May Result in the Disrupting of the Union.

The Musicians' Union, judging from numerous rumors and reports which are flying through the air, is in a fair state to be disbanded, or at any rate severely shaken up by an earthquake of dissatisfaction which is now rumbling in its inmost center.

The trouble is all caused by the recent submission of a resolution, said to be fathered by Owen Miller, President of the Union, and a trombone virtuoso in one of the theater orchestras, calling for the disfranchisement of all members of the Musicians' Union who occupy any of their time by manual work. The resolution states that all persons who work at trades or do anything except play instruments for a living should not belong to the union.

The union has 300 members, about 100 of whom come under the classification as mentioned in the resolution qualifying them to membership. They are employed at the different theaters and belong to orchestras and bands. They claim that the meaning of the name, Musical Union, means only musicians, and they declare that the ones who also work for a living are not true musicians.

This resolution was to have been brought up next Friday evening when the union will have a "commers" after its regular meeting, but owing to the extreme dissatisfaction which prevails they have decided to postpone the reading of the resolutions until some more favorable opportunity.

A prominent member of the union gives the following reasons for the formulating of the resolution:

"For a long time the union endeavored to make itself as strong as possible by getting into its ranks every one who was a musician. Some who seldom played were asked to join, the object being to have the union control all of the musicians of the city. Those who have worked hardest to make the union a success are those whom they now want to run out of it. The theatrical musicians have succeeded in getting their prices up so that they now get good wages, and having attained their object they desire to drop the others and have all of the benefits to themselves. The greatest indignation has been caused by this selfish and unwarranted action on their part, and if the resolution is passed the union will surely be broken up."

A number of others express the same opinion and predict the breaking up of the union in case the resolution is passed. It is claimed that the Committee on By-laws, of which Mr. Miller is the chairman, has been persuaded to take this action by a few theater musicians who have misrepresented certain things in connection with the members.

SINGING SOCIETIES.

THE GERMAN ORGANIZATIONS TO APPEAR AT THE EXPOSITION TO-NIGHT.

A Magnificent Stage Entertainment Offered —Gilmore Closes the Most Successful Season in the History of Manhattan Beach and Starts for St. Louis—Everything Getting in Shape at the Great Show.

This will be German singing society night at the Exposition. During the evening the united German singing societies of the city will give a concert under the directorships of Messrs. Fred Schillinger and Wm. Lange. They will sing at 8 o'clock, just at the conclusion of the first number of the concert by Prof. Bafunno's Band. The selections which they will give will be found printed below with the regular programme. All the German singing societies in the city except the Liederkranz will participate in the concert. They will give a separate concert later on. There will be a very large chorus in the concert this evening, and as they are all trained singers and have been rehearsing and specially preparing for this evening's concert some very fine singing is looked for. With this grand chorus Miss Alice Raymond, the cornet soloist and Bafunno's band all contributing to the musical feature of the programme, and in addition to the beautiful tableaux to be given a stage entertainment of remarkable interest will be enjoyed by those who attend the Exposition.

Gloomy, threatening and disagreeable as today has been a great many people have visited the Exposition. There were even a few people at the building waiting for the doors to open, and by 10 o'clock there was quite a sprinkling of visitors. Of course the attendance was composed almost entirely of women and children, as it always is in the morning. In the afternoon the percentage of men is considerably greater, yet it is very small compared with the attendance of women and children. For seeing the Exposition itself there is no time like the morning. The huge Music Hall is then closed and everything about the great building is silent and hushed compared with the noise and excitement which characterize the afternoons and evenings. As there is no concert in the morning the attendance of course is never nearly so great as in the afternoons or at night. One has nothing, therefore, to detract their attention from the displays, and they can view them to better advantage than at any other time. The fact is appreciated by some ladies who always make it a point to spend a few mornings in the building among the exhibits. If they have children with them they find much less difficulty in looking after them in the morning than at any other time.

"If we only had the Tunis gang flooring machine here," remarked Manager Galennie this morning, "everything would be on hand. John J. Baulet of the Terminal Co. kindly rushed through the Goehring geometric woodcarving machine and men are at work now getting it in position. These two machines will be among the most novel features of the Exposition. They are getting along very nicely with the work of erecting the woodcarving machine, but I do not think it will be quite ready for operation this evening. Several car-loads of the goods for the electrical exhibit have arrived within the past few days and everything in that department is being pushed to completion. It is commencing to look like a display now, though the department has been rather backward. We expect to have the gang flooring machine here and in running order within the next few days and as everything else will be entirely complete by that time we will have a finished Exposition. It is a pity that expositions cannot be all complete on the opening day, but such a thing as an exposition opening with all the displays in readiness has never been known in the history of the country, and it looks as though it never would be, for it is impossible to impress exhibitors with the importance, not only to the Exposition but to themselves, of being ready on opening day. Every day they are behind is just that much loss to them in advertising, but no amount of urging will get some of them ready on time. Even if it were possible to defer the date of opening for them they would still be behind time, as some exhibitors postpone everything until the last moment and then find they are unable to be ready and if they were given another month they would be just as late in getting their displays completed. Some of them will not get to work on their exhibits until after the show has opened. We always manage to open here in pretty good shape, however, and there are never more than a few exhibitors behind time. In fact the St. Louis Exposition is always in more complete shape when it opens than any other institution of the kind in the country."

Only two more days before Gilmore and his band will be here. They open with Wednesday night's concert. Each succeeding year has only increased the popularity of this great musical organization. The people never tire of Gilmore's music. The more they hear his wonderful band, the more they seem to want to hear it. His return will no doubt be greeted by a crowded house, as the desire to hear the band is greater here now than ever. But while the patrons of the Exposition have been very anxious to hear Gilmore again they will regret to lose Miss Raymond. To-morrow night will be her last evening here, and on that occasion she is to be presented with a handsome testimonial. The lady has installed herself as a great favorite here, and the regret at her departure will be sincere.

Echoes.

Frost & Ruf's "trade mark" is very appropriate—"frost on the roof."

There are always crowds about the POST-DISPATCH press in operation in the Mechanical Department.

The POST-DISPATCH EXPOSITION ECHOES, issued from its press in the building, is very popular with visitors.

The POST-DISPATCH press in the Mechanical Department on the Thirteenth street side near the Olive street aisle is a great attraction.

The gold medal presented to Prof. A Bafunno Saturday evening was a well-merited tribute to the leader of St. Louis' largest band.

No display in the building attracts more attention than the beautiful exhibit of gas and electric fixtures made by the A. Siegel Gas Fixture Co. It comprises all the latest improvements and novelties in that line of goods.

In order to make the stay as pleasant as possible to people from outside the city who come to visit the Exposition, the POST-DISPATCH will present to every non-resident of St. Louis who calls at its press in the machinery department of the Exposition Building, on the Thirteenth street side near the Olive street aisle, a ticket to the excursion to be given by the paper Wednesday afternoon. This excursion takes place on the steamer Grand Republic, the handsomest excursion boat on the Mississippi, and will prove a treat to country visitors.

A ROMANCE AND A MURDER.

Arrest of a Young Woman in Cincinnati Charged With an Atrocious Crime.

Mrs. Eva Keys has been arrested in Cincinnati charged with the murder of her former husband. Last month the young woman married John Keys, son of a photographer of Cincinnati, and the honeymoon was spent in St. Louis. It is now charged that she killed her first husband in order to make her marriage with her 19-year-old lover possible. Up till quite recently William Fee and his young wife lived apparently happy on a flatboat near Lawrenceburg, Ky. Suddenly Fee disappeared and his body was shortly found in the river. In the meantime his widow had become the wife of young Mr. Keys. The suspicions of the dead man's brother were aroused, and he worked on the case until he had found sufficient evidence to base a complaint on. What the evidence is is not disclosed.

A Terrific Collision.

LOCKPORT, N. Y., Sept. 8.—At 5:05 o'clock this morning two North Shore limited trains, one going east and the other west, collided with terrific force on the Central track, near the station in this city. Engine 692 of the train going east was telescoped by engine 735 of the western train, and they now stand locked together with their smokestacks nearly touching each other. By the force of the collision the tender of the engine of the eastbound train was forced back over half its length into the Wagner buffet car 420, and the baggageman, W. A. Fielder of New York, instantly killed. The tender of engine 735 was also driven in like manner into buffet car 419. The engineer of this engine, Edison Bradley of Syracuse, sustained a compound fracture of both legs, and the fireman, Wm. Houston, also of Syracuse, received a bad wound of one thigh and severe cuts on the head. No other injuries of any account were reported, although the passengers of both trains were badly shocked by the force of the collision. As these trains do not stop at this station, the passengers were only saved by the square interlocking of the engines. Had the collision occurred but two or three rods to the east one train would have cut the other in two, and the loss of life would have been appalling. The west-bound train is due here at 3:22 a. m. and was therefore half an hour behind time. The meeting place is Sanborn, twelve miles from this city. It is said that both had instructions this morning to meet at the junction, two miles west of the city. The disaster does not obstruct the passage of through trains.

At the End of Ninety Years.

Annie Whitney died Saturday night at 404 Valentine street without medical attendance. She is said to have reached the age of 90 years. Little is known concerning her life, and nothing concerning her family. She lived for two years in squalid quarters on Valentine street, barely living through that time on what she could earn in serving her neighbors. For some days she had remained in her bed, and told such of her neighbors who called that she was too weak to rise. May Marshall was with her when she died.

WILL MAKE THE RACE.

CONGRESSMAN NIEDRINGHAUS IN THE FIELD FOR RENOMINATION.

An Understanding Between the Eighth and Ninth District Representatives of Missouri to Announce Their Candidacy—The Removal of Grant's Remains—The River and Harbor Bill.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 8.—The member of Congress who represents the Tenth Missouri District, Mr. Kinsey, expected to leave for St. Louis, Saturday evening, in company with Congressman Niedringhaus, but found it necessary to remain over on account of certain tariff amendments in which a number of his constituents are especially interested. If possible Mr. Kinsey will take a leave from his official duties the last of the week. Mr. Niedringhaus has gone, and it is said has an understanding with the Ninth District representative to declare himself an aspirant for renewed congressional honors. That is the Eighth and Ninth members will announce their candidacy at the same time.

Efforts will be made as soon as Secretary Blaine returns to accomplish something for Mr. John Musick of Kirksville and Poney Boyd of Springfield, Mo. After what the Secretary has said regarding the candidacy of these two gentlemen, their friends believe they will be cared for when opportunity offers.

What the friends of Messrs. Pohlman and Filley will do in the ensuing campaign is what is worrying the Congressional candidates at this end of the line.

Mrs. Congressman Dockery will leave for her home at Gallatin, Mo., the last of the week. Mrs. John C. Tarnsey will then be the only lady of the Missouri delegation remaining at the Capital.

The Removal of Grant's Remains.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 8.—Representative O'Neill of Pennsylvania says that in a canvass of the House made by him, he found that but little more than one-tenth of the members are opposed to the Senate resolution for the removal of the remains of Gen. Grant from New York to Arlington. Of the thirty-six members who are opposed to the resolution, only three are from States other than New York. Mr. O'Neill says that next Monday he will move to suspend the rules and pass the resolution.

Silver Purchases.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 8.—The amount of Silver offered for sale to the Treasury Department to-day was 840,000 ounces, and the amount purchased 255,000, as follows: 70,000 ounces at $1.172; 50,000 ounces at $1.17¼; 135,000 ounces at $1.1728.

The Senate.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 8.—The House bill to set apart a certain tract of land (on which the big trees stand) in California as a public park, was passed without amendment.

The conference report on the river and harbor appropriation bill was taken up and agreed to without discussion and without a yea and nay vote.

The tariff bill was taken up, the debate on the bill and amendments to be limited to thirty minutes for any Senator on any one subject. Changes or amendments in the bill reported by Mr. Aldrich to paragraph 59, the words, "and white paint containing zinc but not containing lead;" making the duty on phosphorus (paragraph 671) 30 per cent ad valorem (instead of 10 cents per pound); inserting in paragraph 75 (relating to medicinal preparations) the words "or in the preparation of which alcohol is used;" making paragraph 122 read, "boiler plates of iron or steel and other plate iron not thinner," etc.; making paragraph 219 read, "white pine shingles 20 cents per thousand; all others 30 cents per thousand."

Mr. Plumb offered the amendment, of which he had given notice on the 18th of August, imposing a tax of $1.25 per gallon on distilled spirits. He said that he offered it because he believed that it would be necessary to have the additional revenue which would be thus provided ($21,508,000) to meet the requirements of the Government. He was not unmindful of the fact that the question that had been discussed from an entirely different standpoint and that very elaborate efforts have been made to show that there would be no deficiency. In fact he was bound to presume that when the tariff passed the House of Representatives, those who were responsible for it believed that under it the necessary revenue would be collected. The reduction of revenue which the bill, as it passed the House, would effect had been estimated at $71,000,000. By the restoration of the tobacco tax in the Senate, that reduction had been diminished to $60,000,000, qualified by the somewhat ambiguous statement from the Finance Committee that if importations were kept up on the present scale, notwithstanding the increase of duties, the reduction of revenue would be only about $20,000,000.

Mr. Plumb went on to give a resume of the appropriations of the year and to argue that the appropriations for future years would not fall short of those for this year and would in regard to pensions, etc., largely exceed them. He estimated the cost under the new pension bill at fifty millions at least. There would be added to the list of pensioners, widows and dependent parents to the amount of at least $10,000,000, and there would be added, he believed, at least 400,000 soldiers. In fact, he should be greatly surprised if in the next three years the payment on account of that law would not amount to $60,000,000 a year.

Mr. Berry asked Mr. Plumb how many applications had already been received under the new pension law.

Mr. Plumb gave the number at over 400,000.

Mr. Berry recalled the fact that Mr. Davis, who had charge of that bill, had said that he was satisfied that not more than 200,000 names would be added to the pension list under it.

Mr. Cockrell: "There will be between 600,000 and 700,000 in all."

Mr. Plumb said he had no doubt that there would be from 700,000 to 800,000 applications under the law and appropriations under it would amount to at least $60,000,000 a year within the next three or four years.

He continued his summary of appropriations and said there would have to be added to them the amount that would be required under the direct tax bill for the French spoliation claims for the International Fair and under the election law. He thus estimated the expenditures of the Government at $450,000,000 and its revenue at $400,000,000, and that a deficit was just as sure as the rising of the sun. If this amendment were incorporated in the tariff bill it would add $21,500,000 to the revenue.

Mr. Wilson of Iowa opposed the amendment on the ground that it would put $35,000,000 into the pockets of the men who owned the 100,000 gallons of distilled spirits now on hand; and also on the ground that it would make the liquor business an important element in the financial system of the Government.

Mr. Gorman said he would vote against the amendment because he did not believe at this stage of the proceeding it was proper to put an increased tax on whisky. Yet he believed with Mr. Plumb that under the operation of the tariff bill there would be within two years a deficit in the Treasury. He thought a deficit inevitable; but he believed that it would be much better to wait at least a year before attempting to increase internal revenue taxes.

Mr. Dawes opposed the amendment because the increased tax would not apply to whisky on hand which would be thus appreciated in price to the amount of 25 cents a gallon and also because he would not admit by implication that the pending bill would result in a deficit. Mr. Plumb modified his amendment by making it apply to all whisky hereafter produced or withdrawn from bond.

Mr. Aldrich opposed the amendment because he did not think it at all necessary that there should be any increase of revenue.

He was satisfied from the clear and conclusive statement made by the chairman of the committee on appropriations a few days since that the revenues would be amply sufficient to meet all expenditures.

Mr. Cockrell said he would vote against the amendment, because he thought the tax proposed too high. The vote was taken, and the amendment was rejected—yeas, 17; nays, 39, as follows:

Yeas—Berry, Cameron, Casey, Colquitt, Dolph, Edmunds, Ingalls, Jones (Ark.), Mitchell, Paddock, Pasco, Pierce, Plumb, Manderson, Reagan, Teller and Washburn—17.

Nays—Aldrich, Allen, Allison, Barbour, Bate, Blackburn, Butler, Carlisle, Chandler, Cockrell, Coke, Cole, Dawes, Dixon, Eustis, Evarts, Faulkner, Frye, Gibson, Gorman, Hale, Higgins, Hiscock, Hoar, Jones (Nev.), McMillan, Morgan, Platt, Push, Quay, Ransom, Sawyer, Sherman, Spooner, Stewart, Stockbridge, Vance, Vest, Walthall, Wilson (Io.)—39.

Mr. Vance moved to reduce the duty on card clothing (paragraph 153) from 50 to 25 cents per square foot. Rejected.

The sugar section was then taken up, the immediate subject under consideration being the Finance Committee amendment to the paragraph 223, imposing duties on all sugars above No. 13, Dutch standard.

Mr. Sherman argued against the amendment and in favor of the House proposition, which would allow all sugars under No. 16 Dutch standard (including good qualities of brown sugar largely used by the people) to come in free of duty.

The House.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 8.—Prior to the reading of the journal Mr. Anderson of Kansas raised the point that there was no quorum present. The effort of the Speaker pro tem. to count a quorum proving unavailing a call of the House was ordered. The call disclosed the presence of 156 members and the Sergeant-at-Arms was dispatched after the absentees.

DENIES THE CHARGE.

John Connors Accused of Murdering John Walker, a Canal Tripper.

COHOES, N. Y., Sept. 8.—Three years ago last June John Walker, a "tripper" on the Champlain Canal, was murdered, and three days afterward his body, horribly mangled and bruised, was found floating in the canal. He had displayed in saloons some $300. A reward of $1,000 had been offered by Gov. Hill for the arrest and conviction of the murderer and $500 additional by Mayor Garside of this city. Friday morning Chief of Police Delaney received a letter from Thomas Walker, son of the murdered man, which stated that he had good reason to believe that his father's murderer was a man named John Connors, a canal tripper of West Troy, and that he was in Whitehall. It was based on the statement of one Jos. Miller, who says Connors murdered Walker in Cohoes, and that he saw him do it. Connors and Miller were placed under arrest. Connors denies the charge.

IN "PRIVATE" CUSTODY.

ARREST OF ONE OF THE ALLEGED CENTRAL TRAIN WRECKERS.

York Reed, a Former Brakeman, Taken In by the Pinkerton Detectives—The Prisoner, Under Pressure of the "Pumping" Process, Makes Revelations—Kiernan and Cordial, Strikers, Placed Under Arrest.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 8.—A man named York Reed, formerly employed as brakeman on the Hudson River divison of the New York Central road, is under arrest on suspicion of being implicated in the train wreck near Greenbush. Supt. Bissell, Bob Pinkerton and Central detectives were closeted with Reed all afternoon yesterday trying to "pump" him. The Knights say that Reed is not a striker, having refused to go out with them.

Reed is still kept in close confinement at the Central Railroad Depot in this city. Nobody is allowed to talk to him and his family are not even permitted to see him. Supt. Bissell and Detective Pinkerton refused to answer any questions, but hint to reporters of coming sensational developments. The general impression is that Reed is held for information and is voluntarily a prisoner. The reason for not jailing him is said to be fear of a suit for false imprisonment. The detectives are all busy and the Albany police force is in use besides.

As a direct result of the information furnished by Reed, Detectives Pinkerton, Humphreys, Devine and Jackson, together with the local force, ran down two men this morning. The men are John Cordial, 24 years of age, a conductor, and John Kearnan, 26 years of age, a brakeman. Both are Knights of Labor and strikers. They were arrested on warrants issued by Justice Griffith of Troy, at the instance of the New York Central road, and the charge is train wrecking.

Two men were arrested at their homes early this morning at 3 o'clock after a thorough search of the city for them by a dozen detectives. The detectives clung together as though they were afraid to prosecute the search for the men singly, evidently thinking if the men were arrested by the whole detail it would be better for each one individually to share in the reward offered rather than scatter and let each man take his chances in effecting an arrest and thus capture a big reward for himself.

REED'S CONFESSION.

The Associated Press reporter last night by accident got in the room next to where Reed was confined in the Union Depot and his curiosity being aroused, he listened intently for half an hour to the whispered questioning of Reed by Chief Pinkerton and Detective Humphreys. From the stray words which reached his ears it is evident that the arrests were made on account of information given by Reed. Suspicion was attached to Reed from the fact that he had been very prominent in East Albany in his hostility to Pinkerton men there. He stoned them night and day, and once, when caught by three of the Pinkertons, was severely clubbed, and he made dire threats against the road. These three men at the time reported the occurrence to Chief Pinkerton, and when the wreck occurred of course his name was one of those on the list which Pinkerton had kept of the men most prominent in their hostility to the operation of the road. A detective was put upon his track, and learned that Reed had disappeared from his former haunts in East Albany on Thursday afternoon, whence all trace of him was lost. From a chance remark the detective was led to believe Reed was in Hudson, and telegraphed Detective Bryant to that effect. Bryant secured his man in a house of doubtful character at midnight Saturday, and so thoroughly frightened Reed that he consented to come to Albany without a warrant and explain matters. Reed has not been arrested, but was, and still is, in the private custody of the chief Pinkerton in the Union Depot on his own volition. District Master Workman Lee, when informed of the arrests of Kiernan and Cordial, expressed much surprise at Kiernan's arrest. He said that on Thursday night his wife told him that Kiernan and his wife passed his house at 11 o'clock on the way to their own home and had stopped to chat with Mrs. Lee.

Sunk by a Steam Barge.

PORT HURON, Mich., Sept. 8.—The barge W. E. Tremble, in tow of the steamer Blanchard, was run into by the steam barge W. L. Whitmore in the rapids opposite Fort Gratiot at an early hour this morning and sunk in thirty-five feet of water. The Tremble was split open and went to the bottom in two minutes. All the crew succeeded in making their escape except a young man named Wm. McMaw, who was drowned. The Tremble is owned by J. C. Fitzpatrick of Cleveland. She lies about 300 yards from the American shore and is directly on the way of vessels passing the rapids. The bow of the Whitmore was badly damaged and she is now in the dry dock for repairs. At a late hour the R. P. Ranney, in trying to avoid the wreck of the Tremble, ran into the transfer steamer Huron of the Chicago & Grand Trunk Railway and was damaged to the extent of $2,000.

REAL ESTATE NEWS.

THE TYLER PLACE AUCTION STARTED WITH BRILLIANT SUCCESS.

Property Aggregating $113,000 Sold Within an Hour—August Gehner the Heaviest Buyer—The Sale Postponed Until To-Morrow on Account of the Weather—Some Interesting Office Sales of the Day Ranging From $15,000 to $40,000.

A more dreary, cold, disagreeable time for holding an open-air real estate auction upon the premises to be sold than to-day was could not have been selected, and the lowering clouds, looking like they would pour down rain every minute, made the prospect for the Tyler place sale very gloomy indeed. Unpleasant as it was, though, a few people, including some ladies, were on the grounds shortly after 10 o'clock, the hour announced by the Hammett-Anderson-Wade Real Estate Co. for the sale to commence. Nine blocks were to be sold, and under the unfavorable circumstances most firms would have declared the auction off without making any attempt to sell. It fact, it was the general opinion of most of the early arrivals, and those who came later, too, that it would be useless to attempt to make a sale, but the firm did not propose to disappoint people who had faced the weather to attend one of their auctions, and informed them that, as a few other persons kept on coming as the forenoon wore away, the auction would not be started until about 12 o'clock. Even with this declaration the early arrivals were not displeased and made the best of the situation by eating freely of fine sandwiches, distributed by white-aproned waiters, for the general sentiment was that if the property was put under the hammer to such a slim crowd it would go at a sacrifice, and every man and woman who went there to buy remained to get a bargain. By 12:30 o'clock the attendance had increased considerable, nearly double what it numbered an hour earlier, and feeling somewhat encouraged with the character and determination of the crowd to see it out; the flag-bearer was ordered to drive his staff into lot No. 13—50x200 feet—which was offered with the privilege of lot No. 12 at the southeast corner of Tower Grove avenue.

It was 12:50 o'clock when Judge Lanham first called for bids. John Brady offered $20 a foot in response to "Who'll start er," and from that the price rose rapidly at $5 a jump until $40 was reached. Two other bids raised it to $42 a foot and the property being knocked down to J. F. Lyons, he took the two lots. From that on the sale progressed, but as the attendance was small in view of the great extent of property to be sold and the unfavorable conditions of the weather, it is more than likely that it will not be sold out to-day and the auction will be resumed at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning.

Sarah Luke bought a lot 50x170 on the east side of King's highway between Easton and Page avenues from R. W. Hill for $1,250.

John A. Heldacker purchased from Frank O. Fisher the house numbered 2639 Pine street, between Jefferson avenue and Beaumont street, a three-story brick dwelling containing ten rooms, halls and bath room, with lot 20x120, for $5,000; purchased for investment, the premises now renting for $504 a year.

THE POST-DISPATCH press and the POST-DISPATCH EXPOSITION ECHOES are among the most popular features of the great Exposition.

ANOTHER City Hall man has been added to the Eighth District Congressional Committee, and the machine will be run strictly on the boss plan unless all signs fail.

WHETHER Congressman KENNEDY gets his speech into the Congressional Record or not will not affect its circulation or its preservation. It has been spread broadcast and is on file in the newspaper offices. The Record is a back number now.

THE President has a fine opportunity to please the civil service reformers in the appointment of a successor to Mr. CLARKSON in the postal department. There is really no further need of a spoilsman in the office.

THE POST-DISPATCH river excursion will afford country visitors to the Exposition a splendid opportunity to view the river front. Free tickets may be secured by our country friends at the POST-DISPATCH Exposition office.

THERE would be an excellent chance of a solid Democratic delegation from Missouri in the next House if it were not for JIM BUTLER's candidacy in the Ninth and the city administration bosses in the Eighth District.

THE number of Republican Representatives which Missouri will send to the next Congress depends in large measure upon whether the rowdies and boodlers or the respectable Democrats win in the Eighth and Ninth District primaries.

PENSION COMMISSIONER RAUM, following the example of his predecessor, declares that he will not resign. It is a strange taste which would lead a man to prefer being kicked out of an office to walking out with the appearance, at least, of honor.

REED's rules have rushed legislation through the House, but legislation of such a kind and in such shape that the Senate will have to stay in session nearly all of the autumn to correct it. The Reed case is one of the most striking on record of making haste slowly.

IF BLAINE should let REED be beaten in Maine, a Kilkenny cat-fight in the Republican household would immediately ensue, and Mr. BLAINE would far rather rule his party than ruin it. He has REED down now and cannot afford to destroy him. But if REED is not defeated he will owe his election to BLAINE's friends.

CHICAGO is rejoicing over the prospective removal of a rock ledge in the Kankakee River at Momence and the consequent redemption of a million acres of land from swamp water. By annexing Momence she may acquire an available site for the Fair when the contract is completed a year hence.

THE Eighth District Democratic Committee has filled another vacancy with another City Hall employe. If the City Hall furnishes the spokes for all the wheels in the Democratic machine, with the result of keeping the Democratic tidal wave away from St. Louis in November, City Hall bossism will have a heavy reckoning to pay.

PRINCE BISMARCK is on French soil for the first time since he dictated terms of peace at Versailles after the Franco-Prussian War. Although Frenchmen have regarded BISMARCK as their arch enemy, he has been kindly received, and it is whispered that his visit is the first step in the furtherance of a plan to bring about permanent peace and cordial friendship between France and Germany. To accomplish this would certainly be a crowning act of the great Chancellor. It would round out his career as nothing else could.

THE boom of the SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH as an advertising medium was illustrated afresh yesterday, when a 28-page paper was hardly large enough to hold all the advertising without leaving out any of that array of reading matter which is expected every Sunday. The increase in the volume of paid advertising in the SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH during the last two Sundays, as compared with the corresponding Sundays of last year, is exactly fifty-two columns, or three columns more than the combined increase of the Republic and of the Globe-Democrat put together.

TO THOSE who have never seen a perfecting press at work the view of the POST-DISPATCH press at the Exposition rolling off 24,000 POST-DISPATCH EXPOSITION ECHOES an hour is of surpassing interest. We cordially invite all visitors to the Exposition to inspect the press, for which purpose the fullest opportunity will be afforded them. We also invite Exposition visitors from outside the city to participate in the POST-DISPATCH Want Advertisers' River Excursion, which will occur on Wednesday next. Tickets for the excursion may be obtained by visitors free of charge at the POST-DISPATCH Exposition office.

CHAIRMAN LUTZ did not "amount to a row of pins" when Boss BUTLER himself appeared in person to take charge of the Ninth District Democratic Committee Saturday evening. The Boss fixed the day to which the primaries are to be postponed and the amount each candidate is to be assessed. Assuming that nobody would venture into the lists against JIM, he made it easy for JIM by putting the figures at $500. The slightest hint from the Boss was law to the committee, and possible kickers among them received a gentle reminder that he can flip them out and put others in their places whenever so disposed.

OUR cable dispatches yesterday, through an interview with MICHAEL DAVITT, gave a gloomy view of the Irish situation. Mr. DAVITT has been through Ireland and predicts great suffering on account of the failure of the potato crop, which will be aggravated in many parts of Ireland by a fuel famine, the people owing to the continuous rains having been unable to dry peat for use. There is little doubt that an appeal will be made for aid this winter.

CONGRESSMAN MILLIKIN was too conspicuously drunk to speak at the big gathering gotten up for him in his district in Prohibition Maine, and the resubmissionists have carried the Republican primaries at Emporia in Prohibition Kansas. Only the latter of these two incidents surprised anybody, but together they show that prohibition is much more irksomely enforced in Kansas than in Maine.

AFTER a dozen of the best stump speakers had canvassed REED's district for weeks to save him from the necessity of going home to beg for a re-election, he not only had to do that, but summoned the notorious DUDLEY from Washington to assist him in arranging the "blocks of five" machinery. The indications are strong that there will be good ground for a contested election case from Maine in the next House.

THE carnival of dueling which has broken out over the revival of Boulangist scandals in France emphasizes the fact that in France more than anywhere else is preserved the silly notion that reputations may be repaired by damaging bodies with swords and pistols. But the reputations of Gen. BOULANGER and his friends seem to be beyond repair by any means.

THE Butler programme was carried through at the Ninth District Congressional Committee meeting Saturday evening. The meeting was run in the interest of JIM BUTLER throughout, and unless the programme can be broken before the nominating convention is held, the Democrats of that district will have the alternative of voting for BUTLER or staying at home.

BOSS BUTLER, for the Ninth District Democratic Committee, announces a fair primary, but his ultimatum is that the judges shall all be appointed by his returning board. Any gentleman with $500 to spare for the honor will be permitted to run in Mr. BUTLER's primaries, but what the nomination will cost is one of the secrets of practical politics.

THE Republican candidate for Governor in Vermont is elected by a majority less than half the average for ten years past, and the majority on Congressmen is still smaller. This is an emphatic rebuke administered by the most partisan of Republicans to the Republican majority in the House, and it is susceptible of no other interpretation.

THE FURNACE FIGHT.

ST. LOUIS CONTRACTORS SHOWING UP THE CHICAGO CONTRACTS.

Suburban Scholars Who Do Not Comply With the Board Rule Requiring the Payment of Tuition—The Present Music Supervisors to Be Removed—Trouble Over Transfers—A Talk About Free Books.

It is just barely possible that the School Board will get into a snarl over the heating question, and the interest taken in the matter by certain citizens may eventually bring some of the hidden transactions to light. The board has awarded the contract for heating and ventilating the Carr Lane School to the Fuller & Warren Heating & Ventilating Co. of Chicago for $5,100. The only competitor was the Ruttan Heating & Ventilating Co., also of Chicago. These are the two companies which arranged junkets for the School Directors last winter, and a number of them went to St. Paul and Minneapolis at the expense of the latter company. These two companies have divided the board between them, and there is just about as much chance for anyone else to get a contract as there is to freeze ice cream in the realm of his satanic majesty. They have a certain system of ventilation which they both use. The board had decided to adopt that system. No other firm, say the directors, use this system, therefore no other firm can bid, because the board has decided to put in the system used by these two companies and the only question is which of the two companies shall get the plum. Fuller & Warren have captured the Carr Lane, and it is probably too late for any one else to take it away, but an effort will be made to show up the contract in its true light and make the people understand how the School Board is managing public affairs.

Mr. Wm. Taylor has offered to do the work for $4,000.

Mr. Harry M. Snyder said to-day that he would go before the board to-morrow night and make a written offer to do the work for the same sum.

This would be a saving of $1,100, but the offer will not be considered at all. The Fuller & Warren and Ruttan Cos. are the only ones who can obtain any recognition. The Building Committee goes so far as to consider all other builders out of the question entirely. When a contract is to be let bids are not advertised for, no notice is given of the intention of the committee to receive bids. But somehow or other the Fuller & Warren and Ruttan Cos. know that bids are wanted and they have theirs in. They are passed on, and the contract awarded before anyone else knows anything about it. The rule of the board says that a deposit shall accompany every bid, which shall be forfeited to the board if the bidder fails to accept the award or to qualify. This rule is not enforced against these two favored companies. The bids are privately asked for and the deposit is not required. St. Louis houses have resented the extension of such favors to Chicago institutions, but it does no good. Chicago has the heating and ventilating privileges of the St. Louis public schools and the St. Louis Directors will not permit a St. Louis house to compete. But the local furnace men are going to fight this arrangement. They propose to insist upon recognition and unless they get it there will be some warm work and the secrets of the board may be themselves very thoroughly ventilated.

Scholars From the Suburbs.

The number of children who come to the city from the suburbs every morning to attend the public schools has called attention to another evidence of the neglectful manner in which the affairs of the schools are managed by the present board. There is a rule regarding the admission of pupils who reside outside the city and that rule reads as follows:

"Pupils who live outside the city, whether they be residents of Missouri or Illinois, shall be admitted to such schools as are not crowded, upon payment of tuition, which tuition shall be at the rate of $20 in the District School, and $50 in the High School course, per year, payable quarterly in advance."

The justification for the rule is that the residents of St. Louis support the schools and the people who live outside the city contribute nothing towards their maintenance. The schools should, therefore, be free to the children of St. Louis exclusively, but of course it is the desire to afford educational facilities to every child who can take advantage of them, so a former board made this rule. Calculating with care the cost of instructing a child for one year, the tuition was fixed at that price, so that while the child was getting its instruction for a merely nominal sum the taxpayers of St. Louis are not paying for the education of non-resident pupils, and the rule only applies where there is unoccupied space in the schools.

The present board has neglected the enforcement of this rule, however, as it has all others. Hundreds of people have moved to the suburbs in the past year, and no longer pay taxes in the city. They send their children to the St. Louis schools, though, and the morning trains are loaded with boys and girls with their books en route to the free schools. They have been admitted without regard to the space available, and now that the schools are crowded they are occupying seats and excluding from the schools maintained by the tax-payers of St. Louis some of the children of those very tax-payers. Yet the suburban residents are not complying with the rules nor is the board making any effort to collect the tuition fees. Last year the board collected $996.45 and yet the number of non-resident pupils in the High School alone should have paid much more than that, not to speak of the district schools. This year but an insignificant sum, less than $100, has been paid, and that by the few parents who did not care to take for nothing what by law they were required to buy. If the board enforced this rule a considerable sum could be added to the school fund.

A Publisher on Free Books.

Mr. L. M. Dillman, of Van Antwerp, Bragg & Co., the school book publishers of Chicago, arrived in the city this morning, and of course the question was immediately asked: "What is going on in books, that brings Dillman here?" Books—the word leaves a queer sound when it is connected with School Board matters but Mr. Dillman explained his visit to-day.

"I have come here," he said, "because I heard the report that free books would be put in all the schools. If they are we will be called on to supply an enormous number of books, and we want to make up our stock accordingly. We want to have the books on hand if they are to be called for, that is all. Some people think that we are very much interested in the question of free books, but we are not. It doesn't matter one way or the other except that under the free book system more books are used. They are not used so long as when they are bought by the pupils and so more of them are used, but it isn't enough to interest a publisher particularly."

The books are now being sent to the schools, but the boxes in which they are packed will not be opened until the board acts on the regulations governing their use which have been prepared by the Supply Committee.

Dissatisfied With Transfers.

Some very interesting disputes are looked for to-morrow evening. The Teachers' Committee has made numbers of transfers and promotions in the corps of teachers and it is whispered that the changes have given great dissatisfaction. Who the dissatisfied ones are seems to be a secret, though it is intimated that the displeasure is general and is not confined to any few directors, or set of Directors. Anyway the grievances will be aired to-morrow evening.

Musical Variations.

The joint Committee of Teachers and Course of Study have prepared a report favoring the recommendation of the Teachers' Committee to make a change in the corps of music supervisors. Prof. Hodgdon and Bumiller are now the supervisors, and they receive salaries of $1,800 a year. The committee recommended that their services be discontinued, and instead five ladies be appointed at salaries of $1,000. The joint committee favors this recommendation and no doubt the report will be adopted by the board. Though no reasons for the change have been given, no dissatisfaction with the work of these experienced musicians has been expressed and they say they can do all the work, yet the proposition to employ five inexperienced women at an increased expenditure of $1,400 will probably be carried. Already three applications have been made by ladies. Mrs. Thos. Carlin, who has been an organist in the church and a vocal teacher for years, has applied and so has her sister. The other applicant is Miss Eugenia Dussuchal.

THE BRIDEGROOM CAME NOT.

Why Pretty Marie Henke Was Not Married Yesterday.

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—Marie Henke was yesterday to marry Theodore Neppert. In fact, she waited long and anxiously for him to come and claim her as his blushing bride, but he did not avail himself of the opportunity. By 10 o'clock there had assembled at the house of Marie's uncle, Geo. Specht, three radiant young women arrayed in nice, soft clinging gowns and bouquets. Shortly afterwards Marie's brother and some young men arrived. The young men are all employed at a large florist's and they brought with them some fragrant bouquets. Then another young man arrived out of breath with a huge floral marriage bell which was placed upon a table on which were a German prayer book and a big brass candlestick, so that either by accident or design the table looked like an altar. At noon Theodore had not arrived and so some of the anxious guests looked out from the windows. Theodore is 42 years of age and a widower with a $5,000 cottage on One Hundred and Forty-fifth street. When it finally became apparent that Theodore was not in a mood for marrying yesterday, Marie laughingly declared to her relatives that she was not very much surprised. She said, too, that it was a pity to let the dinner spoil and she set her uncle, aunt, brother and friends an excellent example in gastronomics. Dinner lasted a long time because if Theodore should come it would not look nice not to have waited for him. At 9 o'clock last night Theodore had not arrived, and Marie told a reporter, through an interpreter, that she was going to see Lawyer Wagner about the matter to-day. It was only a few months ago that Theodore, while looking for a friend in a down-town flat, rang the wrong bell. Marie answered the summons, and Theodore thought he saw the apparition of his dead wife. Finding it was not, and admiring Marie, he proposed marriage after a few days' acquaintance and Marie accepted. Finding that he had property Marie suggested that perhaps it would be well to have a marriage settlement drawn up. On Sept. 8 Lawyer Wagner drew up a document by which Mr. and Mrs. Neppert became joint owners in Neppert's house. In the meantime, the house which Theodore owned was by a tacit agreement transferred to a third person who was to turn over the property to the bride and bridegroom to-morrow. The third person was Mrs. Catherine Schmitt, the mother-in-law of Lawyer Wagner. Theodore later decided that Marie was too young to get married and told her so. He then asked to have his house returned to him. Marie said she knew her own age and business and was ready to get married, and Mrs. Schmitt said that she could not return the house to Neppert unless he had a wife. Marie sued Theodore for breach of promise and Theodore sued Lawyer Wagner and Mrs. Schmitt for the house.

"I have a document deeding the property back to Neppert as soon as he is married, but not before," said Lawyer Wagner yesterday to a reporter. He also showed to the reporter the ante-nuptial agreement signed by Marie and Theodore, which mentions Sunday, Sept. 7, as the wedding day. Neppert declined to state why he did not claim his bride yesterday.

HIS AUDIENCE SPELLBOUND.

Rev. Father St. Ignatius' Powerful Sermon at the Newport Mission.

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 8.—"Are there any Mary Magdalenes here?"

This startling question was asked last night by Rev. Father St. Ignatius at St. George's Church, which was crowded. The speaker spoke on "Christ's Last Week at Bethany." He drew a graphic word picture of Mary Magdalene. She was a woman of wealth and culture and she brought precious ointment for the feet of the Savior. She was anxious to lead a new life. The people stood aghast at her familiarity. They knew her past life, and though professing to be Christians they lost sight of the fact that Christ knew all about her, and they exposed her. The speaker then, in the most dramatic manner, said:

"She had gone too far. She was a faded flower. But here, to-night, let me say that I thank God that there was a Mary Magdalene. She came to Christ and publicly was forgiven. Mary Magdalenes may be found all over the world and they should be given a helping hand. What Christ did for Mary Magdalene at Bethany he is doing to countless women all over the world."

In eloquent words the good man besought his hearers to turn from the error of their ways. He referred to his work here in a very modest manner. When he had bidden adieu to this fashionable city he should expect to receive letters from men and women whom he likened to Lazarus. Mary Magdalenes might not be as bad as the one at Bethany had been, but they were sinners and had wandered from the Master's feet.

"If I were an American and better acquainted with you," said the speaker, "I would ask all the Mary Magdalenes and all the Lazaruses to stand up, as I have often done before where I have labored, but I cannot do so to-night."

His closing remarks were powerful, eloquent and intensely dramatic. His audience was spellbound and many were moved to tears. Never was such a scene witnessed in Newport before. His appeals were very pathetic. The mission closed last night. He will hold a month's mission in Boston in October and one in New York probably in November.

DECIDEDLY UNPLEASANT.

The Experience of an American Citizen With the Russian Police.

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 8.—Mr. A. Davidson of No. 565 Tremont street had a decidedly unpleasant experience with the Russian police. Mr. Davidson, though born in Russia, has lived in America over twenty years and is a citizen. He sailed from New York on a German steamer, June 11, for a visit to his native place, a town twenty-five miles beyond the German frontier, intending on his return to bring his aged mother with him. Being armed with a passport, secured at the State Department in Washington, he had no fear of molestation. He reached his destination in safety, but to his surprise his relatives begged him not to show himself on the street for fear of arrest. Accordingly he hurried his departure. He was obliged to pass through Warsaw, and the official who examined his passport there told him to report at the General Inspectors'.

"Before going to the inspectors," says Mr. Davidson, "I saw the American Consul at Warsaw, and he was greatly concerned about me. I told him the American Consul at Berlin had countersigned my passport, as had also the Russian Consul. Of course, I had not the slightest idea that anything could harm me, but the American Consul at Warsaw said I had been misinformed, that there were Russian laws affecting me, to-wit: 'No American citizen has a right to remain in Warsaw more than twenty-four hours; no Hebrew can enter Warsaw whatsoever, and an American-naturalized citizen of Russian birth entering into Russia shall be seized and put into the army or sent to Siberia.' "

Mr. Davidson had to stand considerable abuse from the police officials and to pay fines aggregating £24, and then was ordered by them to take an evening train via Vienna, but suspecting a plot to seize him at the frontier he left by an afternoon train, via Berlin, and succeeded in getting out of the country.

"If the State Department," says Mr. Davidson, "desires to do justice to American citizenship it can easily be proven that there are many Americans to-day who are languishing in Russian prisons awaiting transportation to Siberia. Their friends in New York and other American cities are spending money in vain to get them released. In one case I was told that already $6,000 has been expended to get an American out of a Russian prison."

REV. ZIEGLER'S CRUSADE.

ST. MALACHY'S PASTOR'S PLAN FOR STOPPING DRINKING ON SUNDAYS.

He Has Enlisted Sixty Ladies to Act as Spies on all Men who Spend the Time They Ought to Be in Church in Saloons—His Determination to Work a Reform in the Parish.

REV. FATHER ZIEGLER made an announcement in the course of his parochial talk at low mass at St. Malachy's yesterday, which caused both amusement and dismay. The father's zeal in the cause of temperance is well known, and when he made an allusion to excessive drinking among his parishioners, it was generally understood that something out of common would follow, though few expected such a bombshell as was shortly afterward dropped in their midst. The reverend gentleman commenced by a mention of the fact that drinking to excess was getting more and more general, and that the number of heavy drinkers who would feel hurt if described as actual drunkards was increasing at an alarming rate. He was determined to reform matters in his own parish, where, he regretted to say, beer was being sold on Sundays without regard to law, or even decency. All day long cans were being filled, and men stayed at home or went to saloons for the same purpose instead of attending church.

LADIES TO ACT AS SPIES.

He had thought of various measures of reform and had finally decided on one which would, he thought, be effective. He had secured the assistance of over sixty ladies who were busy preparing a list of drunkards and drinking men who would be graded and classified. In one class would be placed all the incorrigible drunkards, and he hoped the list of these would not be a very long one, though he had his fears on the subject. The remaining drinkers and drunkards in the parish would be divided into three classes, numbered one, two and three respectively, and the ladies would use their own discretion as to the class in which a man was placed. Sunday drinking was the special offense aimed at, and he hoped the warning would be taken in time, for when the lists were completed the results would be announced.

The congregation was well aware that Father Ziegler would keep his word, and several gentlemen present swore off without delay, resolving by a spell of good conduct, and if necessary, painful sobriety, to keep out of the black list and avoid inclusion in any one of the classes. The non-drinking element enjoyed the joke immensely, especially as they understood that the lists would be read out in full from the altar.

THE CRUSADE BEGUN.

Father Ziegler was seen this morning and questioned as to the progress already made in the new crusade. He declined to give any information that might frustrate the efforts of the ladies, but admitted that his allies among the fair sex numbered over sixty, and that they were already at work on the classification of the drinking gentlemen in St. Malachy's parish. The list and classification would be all ready during the fall, and the totals would be duly announced. Asked whether the lists would be read as well as the totals stated, the reverend gentleman smiled and said that would be a little too bad, adding:

WHAT FATHER ZIEGLER SAID:

"This is only a desperate remedy for this overdrinking. Every Sunday throughout this parish, and others, too, of course, the Sunday law is openly disregarded and beer is sold freely. I am determined to do my duty and make an effort to check this growing evil. Two years ago I was instrumental in closing up five saloons in this neighborhood, and I hope to do more this time."

THE WABASH MEETING.

Arrival of the President and Other Officials—The Road's Business.

The annual meeting of the Wabash will be held to-morrow and among prominent officers who have already arrived from a distance are President Ashley, Vice-Presidents Edgar T. Wells and How, General Manager Hays, General Solicitor Blodgett and Directors H. K. McHarg and Cyrus J. Lawrence. The meeting will be held at the Commercial building to-morrow, where the annual statement will be presented. It will show the transaction of an immense business in both the Eastern and Western divisions, but the profits have been kept down by the rate wars. The report that the Canadian Pacific has secured a controlling interest in the Wabash is denied by the officials, who regard the rumor as a stock-jobbers' report for the purpose of affecting prices. They say so many reports of this kind have been made lately that denials are quite tedious. President Ashley says no change in the suggested direction is at all probable. The two roads have an arrangement whereby Canadian Pacific cars are hauled over the Wabash from Detroit and that is the sole ground for the rumor. The President entertains no fear as to its Chicago outlet and explains that the difficulty with the Erie people is of a purely technical character. There was no provision in the agreement with the Chicago & Atlantic for terminating the arrangement on ten days' notice, as had been suggested. The Erie on acquiring the Chicago & Atlantic from the receiver had served the usual notice of the fact, and a new agreement would be necessary. A meeting would be held shortly at which there would be no difficulty in making new arrangements, besides which access could be gained to Chicago by other roads. The Wabash line from Butler would probably be constructed within a year, and this would place the road on an independent basis with regard to its Eastern business.

A MYSTERIOUS MURDER.

John Riley Killed During a Quarrel With Another Man.

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 8.—A mysterious murder occurred yesterday in front of No. 4618 Laflin street. The body of John Riley was found by a policeman in the rear of that number. Death had been caused by a knife wound. The people in the house, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bamister, Mrs. Bamister's sister, Kate Ford, Mary Booler and Michael Cusick, at first claimed they knew nothing about the affair, but afterwards Michael Cusick stated that he in company with Riley, the murdered man, and William Driscoll were standing in front of the house when it was suggested that they get a can of beer. Cusick said he went into the house to get the can and some trouble occurred between Driscoll and Riley which resulted in the stabbing of Riley, but by whom the stabbing was done Cusick and the inmates of the house claim they do not know. The murder is supposed to have grown out of trouble about a woman and the police are looking for Driscoll, who is believed to be concerned in the killing.

FOR PERSONATING POHLMAN.

Ben Fehls Fined This Morning in the Court of Criminal Correction.

Ben Fehls, who accompanied City Attorney Jim Butler, when the latter interfered in the partnership difficulty of Baldwin & Cook, proprietors of a West End billiard hall, and was introduced as Deputy Sheriff Wm. Pohlman, for personating an officer, was on trial this morning in the Court of Criminal Correction. Geo. L. Cook told how on the night of Aug. 15, City Attorney Butler had thrown him out of his place of business, and had placed Fehls in charge. He, Cook, was told by persons outside that Fehls was Wm. Pohlman, but Fehls had not himself claimed to be any person other than himself.

This was the case against Fehls, and his attorney declined to produce any evidence for the defense. Judge Campbell took the matter under advisement until Friday, as he was not clear as to the scope of the statute under which the prosecution was brought.

It is probable that Fehls will be discharged. Ford Smith, the Sheriff's attorney, was interested in the prosecution.

Slept in the Streets.

Wm. Clemens of 2705 Iowa avenue went to sleep yesterday afternoon on the corner of Seventh street and Lafayette avenue. While the tone of his stomach was being restored and his consciousness was suspended an unknown took away his silver watch, which he says was worth $16.

Wm. Rammer of Broadway and Penrose street lost a watch under similar circumstances. He fell asleep in front of 219 South Broadway, between 2 and 3 o'clock Sunday morning. Awaking he found his watch gone and also several silver dollars.

Wm. Remmert of 4117 North Broadway went to sleep on the corner of Sixth and Pine street Saturday night. He lost a nickel case watch and $4.

THE ELKS.

Allen O. Myers, the Grand Secretary, Explains the Present Troubles.

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—Grand Exalted Ruler Simon Quinlin of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks left the Gilsey House yesterday to attend the meeting of the trustees of the Grand Lodge at Hartford, Conn., to-morrow. He arrived from Chicago on Saturday, and was met by Allen O. Myers, the Grand Secretary. Mr. Myers said yesterday to a reporter that the meeting at Hartford will be brief but interesting. The trustees will accept the advice of Judge L. E. Griffin of Rensselaer County and seek to dissolve the injunction granted by Judge Lawrence some time ago.

"When the order was formed in 1869," said Mr. Myers, who represents the Western side of a quarrel of which the Eastern view has already been given, "it was composed of actors, who agreed to meet for a social hour or two every Sunday and take their glass of beer or wine. The organization was then known as 'The Jolly Corks.' 'The Corks' changed their name to 'Elks' and lodges were formed all over the country. The Grand Lodge has always been in New York City, but in 1890 "Joe" Mackin of Chicago, who was dropped from the order after his conviction of ballot-box stuffing, proposed that the Grand Lodge should meet elsewhere than in New York. He wished to have it in Chicago, but his plans were defeated and the matter was dropped. In 1887 the proposition to hold the Grand Lodge in a Western city was renewed. We of the West were tired of being dominated by a little clique in the East, or, to be exact, in New York. We had no voice in its councils, and when we came on here we found everything cut and dried and a path at our feet along which we were expected to allow ourselves to be led. So we began by suggesting a few things, such as abolishing gambling, for which the rooms at No. 113 East Fourteenth street had become notorious.

"We had our Grand Lodge at Cleveland and we suspended the New York Lodge, No. 1. Secretary A. C. Moreland was expelled from the order, but the other members of the suspended lodge have been invited to purge themselves of contempt. I wish it to be known that with the single exception of A. C. Moreland no gentleman in New York will be refused admittance in our lodges. Of the 159 lodges in existence not one has supported the action of New York Lodge, No. 1. We are going along just as we were before the row, but the clique is broken and there is less centralization of power.

"More than that," continued Mr. Myers, "it was stated that if Quinlin and myself came to New York we would be arrested. Well, it was well known that we were coming, and although we do not speak as we pass by, the members of the clique have seen us at the hotel and on the street. We thought we might get a chance to gaze on the inside of Ludlow Street Jail but we must be content to look at the outside of it. If Moreland comes West, however, we will arrest him for theft, as he has taken possession of our records. He has about $2,000 worth of furniture and printed matter in the Fourteenth street rooms, besides the poker table. He is welcome to everything but the records, and we want them. We shall probably apply to the New York State courts next week to dissolve Judge Lawrence's injunction restraining us from transacting business of the order out of this State."

HIS SKULL FRACTURED.

Edward Brown Has a Rough Time in a Low Dive.

Edward Brown of 119 South Third street is in the City Hospital. He was taken there at 4 o'clock this morning, suffering from two wounds in the head and numerous bruises on various portions of his body. One wound was in his scalp, the other was across his forehead and is probably accompanied by a fracture of the skull. Dr. Jordon of the City Dispensary, who sent Brown to the Hospital, says his wounds are serious.

Brown was in search of diversion at 3 o'clock this morning. He visited Carrie Smith, a colored woman of evil reputation, who resides in the rear of 210 South Eighth street. At the unholy hour mentioned Carrie had other visitors. Among those present were Andrew Gibson, Will Gray, Dave Morris and others. Carrie's larder was not well stocked, and the visitors needed refreshments. On her suggestion they contributed 15 cents, and she went to a corner saloon for beer. On her return she found the bed and floor of her room covered with blood, which had been, up to the time of her departure, cooped up in the veins of Brown. He was lying on the floor. She patched him up a little and turned him out of doors. He fell on the street, was found by a policeman and given proper attention.

Brown says he was attacked by all of Carrie's callers and robbed of $12 as well.

Warrants were issued this morning charging Morris, Gray and the woman Smith with the robbery. They were arrested and placed in jail to be held there until it is known whether Brown will die or recover.

LED TO DAMAGE SUITS.

The Recent Robbery of a Mexican Lady at the Bayview House.

NEWBURG, N. Y., Sept. 8.—The recent robbery at the Bayview House, Cornwall, by which Senora Najira of New York claims to have lost $4,000 worth of diamond jewelry from her room, has led to the bringing of three suits for damages in the Supreme Court. Miss Bertha K. Doane, manager of the Bayview, is the plaintiff in each case. She brings the suits against Senora Nijara, the sister-in-law of the latter, Senora Irene Pohl, and G. Augustus Anderson of New York, who was boarding at her house with the two Mexican ladies, when the alleged robbery occurred. Damages to the amount of $5,000 are asked for in each instance, and the papers have been served upon the defendants. They are all for alleged slander and defamation of character. Soon after the robbery Miss Doane was charged with having committed it and a search warrant against her was issued. A Deputy Sheriff searched Miss Doane's trunks and other places in her house in a futile effort to find the missing gems. Miss Doane sues Mr. Anderson on the claim that he charged her with having stolen the jewelry and got out the search warrants and also brings cases against the senoras for having said that she committed the theft. The missing jewelry has not been found.

FAINTED ON THE ALTAR.

Dr. Holland Has an Attack of Illness During the Services at St. George's.

Yesterday during the communion service at St. George's Church at Beaumont and Chestnut streets, Dr. R. A. Holland, the pastor, was suddenly taken ill and fainted. The congregation was very much disturbed about the circumstance and was dismissed before the services were concluded. Dr. Holland was immediately taken to his home on Pine street, where he recovered in a few moments. The illness was not serious, and was brought about by the heat and his condition, which is not of the best, as he has been taking a good deal of medicine for an attack of influenza, which has affected his throat, and which makes it difficult for him to speak for any length of time. A call was made at his home this morning, and he was reported as entirely recovered from the attack.

Perkins & Herpel's College.

Perkins & Herpel's Mercantile College, on Fourth and Washington avenue, has begun the fall term with an increased attendance and prospects for the most successful year it has yet known. Its commercial course is most thorough, including instruction in bookkeeping, penmanship, arithmetic, spelling, shorthand, typewriting, grammar and composition. The night school opens this evening. The hours are from 7 to 9, and the terms are most reasonable.

STAGE HANDS STRIKE.

A DRAMA IN REAL LIFE ENACTED BEHIND THE CURTAIN.

Their Demand for Higher Wages Refused Because the Managers Will Not Recognize the Brotherhood—The Exposition Accedes and Work There Goes on Smoothly—Scale of Prices—The Strikers Tell a Tale of Woe.

The St. Louis Theatrical Brotherhood is at war with the management of the different theaters and the first gun has been fired. There will not be a Brotherhood man at work in any theater in St. Louis to-night, unless some radical changes are made this afternoon by the managers of the different houses, but the alternative is not at all probable.

The trouble which culminated in the strike started by the sending out of the following circular by the Recording Secretary of the Brotherhood, Mr. C. J. Finnegan, who has been a stage hand at the Grand Opera-house for a number of seasons:

DEAR SIR—I have been directed to inform you that the St. Louis Theatrical Brotherhood, at a regular meeting, have adopted the following schedule of prices for their government during the theatrical season of 1890 and 1891: Stage hands—Exposition, Grand Opera-house, Olympic and Pope's, $1 each performance; Standard Theater, Havlin's Theater, 75 cents each performance; second carpenters, per week, $15; property man, per week, $15; electrician, per week, $15.

Extra work 25 cents per hour. Taking out show if worked on during performance, regardless of time, $1. Work to commence fifteen minutes before overture at each performance.

None of the managers of the theaters on being approached relative to the above scale of prices, made any particular objection to the amounts and agreed to think the matter over. They thought it over for some time and then the brotherhood was shaken to its very foundation by the edict that no Brotherhood man could go to work in any theater and be recognized as such. The theatrical managers declined to have any dealings with the Brotherhood.

STAGE HAND TRAGEDIANS.

Then there was tragedy behind the scenes. Probably there was never a more thrilling piece put on the stage of any theater than was enacted by the stage hands. Soliloquies, anathemas, edicts and proclamations were freely indulged in, but of no avail. They were told that they could have their old wages and occupy their old places if they wanted to.

Mr. Finnegan's visited Mr. Chouteau, but Mr. Chouteau said he would spend thousands of dollars before he would pay the Brotherhood what it demanded.

Then a meeting was called for and it was decided to strike. If they could not get their demands they would strike. Then they solemnly dispersed and have remained in this condition since then.

Mr. Gaiennie and the Exposition agreed to pay the Brotherhood what it asked and he now has a crew of Brotherhood men cheerfully at work. The others are dismally patrolling the street, and instead of pulling ropes, shifting scenes and discussing the merits of the stars in the different companies they mournfully discuss the situation and "touch" their friends with their "tale of woe."

THE STAGE CARPENTERS' WORK.

They have an explanation of the cause of the "changed heart" on the part of the managers, and explained it to a POST-DISPATCH reporter this morning as follows:

"The stage carpenters have charge of the stage, and when pay day comes around they draw the money from the manager and pay off the men," said a stage hand. "If a man gets paid $5 for his week's work he can know that his name is down on the manager's list for more, especially if he is an extra man. The stage carpenters here have any extra men that are needed. Take for instance this week. There are about ten extra men on the stage at the Grand Opera-house while the 'Crystal Slipper' is on. Now I'll tell you how they work it. The ten men go on and after one or two nights, perhaps two or three will be laid off. The other men do this extra work and the management pays the stage carpenter the money to pay the whole ten for the week's work. He pockets the money of those men he laid off and perhaps fines some of the other men for little things, so that a good stage carpenter can make from $5 a week up, outside of his regular salary. If a man goes to the manager and kicks then he is not given another job by the carpenter, and the others are warned that he is a kicker. That's how it is. Now the reason that we formed a union was so that we could stand by each other and perhaps get our pay directly from the manager. Then we would get what he intended we should. The stage hands are all afraid that the stage carpenter will get down on them and then they couldn't get a job."

C. J. Finnegan, Recording Secretary and Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Theatrical Brotherhood, said:

"The money that we ask for our work is only a dollar or two more a week than what we were getting. In some cases it was the same as we were getting. The stage carpenters run the stages and they do not favor the Brotherhood plan, so I suppose they have influenced the managers by using unjust arguments and making false representations. We will stick together and 'we'll fight it out on this line if it takes all'—winter, or into the spring. We expect that the managers will realize in a few days that the inexperienced men will destroy and damage more stuff by their inefficiency than it would cost them to pay us our demand. We think they will come around in two or three weeks."

Mr. Finnegan has received a letter from the Cincinnati Brotherhood stating that "the strike in that city had been settled in every theater except Heuck's Opera-house, but it will probably come to terms in a few days."

Some of the labor organizations in the city have agreed to take the matter of the strike up and do what they can to aid the Brotherhood. The Executive Committee of the Theatrical Brotherhood, consisting of C.J. Finnegan, Joseph Demsky and Wm. Dougherty, called at Labor Headquarters this morning to explain their position, and ask the assistance of the labor unions.

CATHOLIC KNIGHTS OF AMERICA.

Final Arrangements for the Convention—Entertaining the Delegates.

This morning the advance guard of State delegates of the Catholic Knights of America convention arrived, and the bulk of the visitors will be here this evening. The headquarters are at the Richelieu Hotel, where there will be informal receptions this evening. To-morrow there will be a parade from the hotel to St. John's Church, where mass will be celebrated. The convention will adjourn early to permit the delegates to attend the banquet on the Grand Republic in the afternoon. When the visitors have sampled the good things, the boat will come up to the landing and take aboard those who wish to go on the evening excursion. The jubilee singers and the double quartette of the Harmonie Singing Society will help entertain the crowd. Wednesday will be Catholic Knights' day at the Exposition, and the building will be well filled by wearers of the badge of the order. The State reports of the Knights show exceedingly healthy results of hard work on the part of officers.

A WIFE'S CONFESSION.

Her Attempt to Kill Her Husband—Suicide—Texas Topics.

GAINESVILLE, Sept. 8.—Mrs. J. H. Taylor, who was charged with assisting in the attempt to kill her husband at Quanah, made a confession to Judge Duncan here. She says that she hit her husband with the blunt side of an ax after her 14-year-old daughter had cut him in the face with the sharp edge of it. The story of the family affairs is too dreadful for publication. Taylor was not killed, but has a horrible wound in his face.

DALLAS, Sept. 8.—Walter Mabrey, 22 years of age, ended his life yesterday in the National Hotel by taking an overdose of morphine. He came here the day before from Gainesville. No cause is assigned for his act.

Mr. F. L. Marshall,

Representing the POST-DISPATCH on 'Change, will be on the floor during business hours and will call on merchants who desire to make use of the POST-DISPATCH market reports. Telephone [illegible].

AT THE LOCAL THEATERS.

VARIED LIST OF ATTRACTIONS FOR THE SEASON'S SECOND WEEK.

Bronson Howard's Great War Drama, "Shenandoah," at the Olympic—The Gorgeous Reproduction of "The Crystal Slipper" With New Dances and Spectacular Features—A New Railroad Drama at Pope's—Farce Comedy at Havlin's and Spectacular Melodrama at the Standard—News of the Stage.

FROM a purely artistic standpoint some flaws might be found in "Shenandoah," but as a popular war play appealing directly to the sympathies of the American people on both sides of Mason and Dixon's line it has not been equaled. Its popularity was shown by the fact that despite the rain the Olympic held an excellent audience last evening on the opening of its second engagement here and the enthusiasm aroused by the stirring scenes it presents was unbounded.

Bronson Howard has cleverly intertwined charming romance with the stern and stirring realities of war in this remarkable play. He even suggests the shuddering horrors of war, but with a delicacy, an absence of brutal and shocking details and, more important still, with such an attendant suggestion of human sympathy that the mind of the spectator, while impressed with the cruelty of war, is also filled with a saving view of the irresistible bond of sympathy which unconsciously linked the hearts of those in conflict. It would be difficult to find a scene in which suggestion is used so powerfully as in the third act, where all the vast movements of an army in battle, the thrill and fury of war and a gallant charge of cavalry are vividly impressed upon the mind with the common resources of the stage and without actually attempting to give a stage view of a battle. The imagination of the spectator is stimulated to the highest impression of war by the pathetic or stirring incidents, while the story of the drama is told uninterruptedly. The torch signaling from Three Top Mountain is a most interesting feature, and throughout military methods and regulations are reproduced accurately. The development of the story and the interest of the spectator move on together to the spectacular climax of Sheridan's ride.

But while stirring patriotic impulses and reviving what may be called the furor of battle no offense is given either North or South and the chief interest of the play lies in a romantic love story and in events which arouse mutual sympathies. The story is a pretty one and is charmingly told.

The cast presenting the play had only two of the members of last year's cast—Frank Carlisle, who gives a manly impersonation of Col. Kerchival West, and Charles Mackey as Frank Bedloe, whose fate furnishes the most pathetic incident of the drama. With the exception of some stiffness on the part of Frank Burbeck as Gen. Haverill the company were acceptable in their roles, including A. F. Buchanan as Col. Heartsease, Harry Harwood as Maj.-Gen. Buckthorn, Orrin Johnson as Col. Robert Ellingham, Joseph Adelman as Capt. Thornton, James O. Burrows as Sergt. Barket, Viola Allen as Gertrude Ellingham, Nanette Comstock as Jenny Buckthorn, Mary Hampton as Mrs. Constance Haverill, Zoe Tuttle as Madeline West, Alice Haines as Mrs. Edith Haverill, E. J. Morgan as Surgeon Hardwick, Alice Halsam as Old Margery, and others.

To-night a beautiful souvenir, a medallion of Gen. Sheridan mounted on plush, will be given away to commemorate the close of a year's continuous run.

THE "CRYSTAL SLIPPER."

The Grand Opera-house was packed to the doors last night. The "Crystal Slipper" was given a royal reception. The extravaganza has been considerably remodeled since its last appearance here, and has even more sparkle and dash than it had. Pretty and piquant Ida Mulle as Cinderella, the fireside dreamer, was charming and interesting; and as the Duchess, she was bewitching. She sang with her usual excellence. Louise Montague, as Prince Prettiwitz, made a handsome figure and was dashing in her work. Eddie Fay, as Yosemite, carried off the principal honors as usual. His india rubber face, asthmatic laugh, queer dancing and funny capers caught the audience, as they always have done. The "Crystal Slipper" is composed more of Fay than anything else. Topsy Venn and Fanny Daboll as the Baron's daughters were amusing in everything and the Baron, by W. S. Daboll, was very entertainingly carried out.

All of the characters were exceptionally well taken. The music was rendered in an excellent manner and the scenery was more gorgeous than ever. A number of new scenic effects tended to add additional luster to the performance. The dancers gracefully stepped right into the favor of the audience and made a great impression. Clara Qualitz, Mlle. Madeline Morando, Azella the flying dancer, Iri Rosche, Signora Maccari and Signorita Frascuella were bewitchingly graceful and danced with captivating grace and skill. The ballets were richly and tastefully costumed and were novel and beautiful in design. The flying dance by Azella was a most attractive novelty, and Frascuella gave a carpet dance which was a dream of grace and abandon. The transformation scene was new and beautiful in detail and ensemble. The "Slipper" gives promise of a star week at the Grand.

AT POPE'S THEATER.

"The Fast Mail," which promises to be one of the most successful melodramas on the road this season, commenced a week's engagement at Pope's Theater last night. The play is of the usual melodramatic character, with blood, pistol shots and impossible villains, and was acceptably exciting to the audience. The scenic effects are unusually good and are very realistic. The suspension bridge scene at Niagara Falls and the steamboat explosion are thrilling. Louise Lord, as Mary Marten, is the star, and did some clever work last evening, being ably assisted by a clever company. The realistic railroad train is starred by the management as its crowning success. A country station is shown, with its platforms, water tank, elevator, telegraph poles and wires, switch lights, etc. An engine and tender comes upon the stage and stops. It is a perfectly built machine of iron, with burnished brass trimmings, with drive wheels, piston, steam-exhaust, whistle, bell, headlight and emitting black rings of smoke from the smokestack. From the cab the engineer descends and oils up, then returns to the cab, pulls the throttle and the train starts. Fourteen freight cars pass, with an illuminated caboose, showing danger lights. "The Fast Mail" will remain this week at Pope's, with matinees on Wednesday and Saturday.

THE "SOAP BUBBLE."

Havlin's Theater had a fair-sized audience last night on the commencement of a week's engagement by the "Soap Bubble" Co. The comedy has had a long and successful run, and has been seen a number of times in St. Louis with companies of varied excellence. The present company is of that character, the excellence being rather varied. Chas. Young, as Wiley Dodge, philosopher, detective and barber, causes the greater part of the fun, being ably assisted by Frank Allen as Chops. For the other members of the company not much can be said and the audience was not over-favorably impressed by their excellence. The applause was spasmodic and not of an intense nature although good work was done at times by some of the members of the company.

The "Soap Bubble" will remain for the week, with matinees Thursday and Saturday.

"MICHAEL STROGOFF."

The Standard had a good house last night on the presentation of the "'New' Michael Strogoff," in five acts and ten tableaux. Harold Lissen as Michael Strogoff, the imperial messenger, did some good work, as did also Harry Colton as Ivan Ogareff. Chas. Tyrrell as Blount the English correspondent, and Jos. Le Brandt as the French correspondent, were good, but the other members of the company were rather indifferent. The ballet, led by Signorita Carnis, was very pretty, and a number of good specialties were introduced by Irvini, necromancer and juggler.

"Michael Strogoff" remains for the week at the Standard.

THE MARLOWE ENGAGEMENT.

Miss Julia Marlowe, who has made perhaps the strongest impression ever made by a young actress upon the public, will appear in St. Louis for the first time next week at the Grand. Miss Marlowe has devoted herself chiefly to the East, and has won the highest praise from critics and public there. She will appear in a repertoire including "Ingomar," "Romeo and Juliet," "Pygmalion and Galatea," "The Hunchback" and other legitimate dramas.

Amusement Notes.

"Beacon Lights" will be put on next week at Pope's.

The "Charity Ball" will be seen at the Olympic next week.

The Ranch King Comedy Co. opens next Sunday night at Havlin's.

Senorita Marie Frascuella of the "Crystal Slipper" ballet is the wife of the famous Spanish bull fighter, Frascuella.

Ida Mulle, the original dainty Cupid in "Orpheus and Eurydice," now with the "Crystal Slipper," is getting rather plump, and is inclined to embonpoint.

Dick Stahl, who wrote the "Sea King," "Said Pasha" and a number of other operas, is now engaged on a production which he claims will outdo all his other works.

THE CROP REPORTS.

Ground Too Dry for Plowing in Several Counties—Correspondents' Remarks.

The bulletin of the Missouri State Board of Agriculture, co-operating with the United States Signal Service, for the week ending Sept. 6, 1890, shows fifty reports from the different counties of the State. The rainfall for the week was normal in the Northwest and below the normal in other sections. The temperature and sunshine were normal in all sections.

The Mississippi River Valley counties, from Lewis and Shelby south to Cape Girardeau and Bollinger are needing rain. In several of these counties the ground is too dry for plowing. In other sections of the State the soil is in good condition and late corn, late potatoes and pasture are doing well. Wheat seeding has begun in some counties and reports from all sections state that an increased acreage will be sown.

The correspondents' remarks are as follows:

Adair—Good rains have fallen, which will help corn and pastures.

Bates—Wheat sowing begun; some corn cut.

Caldwell—Late potatoes will be fine; corn being cut and sorghum made up; pastures the best for years.

Cape Girardeau—Rain needed very much to prepare ground for wheat; grass and stock water scarce; late potatoes and turnips a failure.

Chariton—Corn will make an average crop; large crop of wheat will be sown.

Dade—Ground in good shape; pastures fine.

Gentry—Corn 100 per cent and ripening finely; wheat, 200 per cent.

Jackson—Season is all that could be desired.

Jefferson—Corn ripening finely. Late potatoes doing well.

Linn—Early corn secure. Late corn green and wants twenty days' warm weather to save it from injury from frost. Farmers getting ground in excellent shape for a large acreage of wheat.

Mercer—We will have full crop of corn; pasture fine.

Ozark—Some corn blown down; ground in good condition.

Polk—Corn and pasture good; ground in good condition for plowing.

Putnam—Crops doing well; plowing progressing.

Worth—Favorable for corn and plowing. A larger acreage of wheat than for many years will be sown.

Progress.

It is very important in this age of vast material progress that a remedy be pleasing to the taste and to the eye, easily taken, acceptable to the stomach and healthy in its nature and effects. Possessing these qualities, Syrup of Figs is the one perfect laxative and most gentle diuretic known.

On Saturday the suit of Dr. C. S. Youree vs. the Pope Glucose Co. and Albert Wieghard was tried before Justice Fechte. Wieghard, who was an employe of the company, was badly scalded about Aug. 17, and was sent by the company's bookkeeper to Dr. Grayson for treatment. Wieghard found Grayson absent and went to Youree, who treated him, and the glucose company refused to pay the bill, whereupon both were sued. The suit was dismissed as to the company and judgment rendered against Wieghard. R. J. Brown appeared for the plaintiff and C. N. Travous of Edwardsville for the defense.

LADY. "Pearline is like 'Topsy,' it never was born."
E. "Madame why do you employ this strange creature?"
LADY. "Pearline is my dearest friend; I keep no servant, for servants make unreasonable demands and often fail to give satisfaction. Pearline demands nothing but a few square inches of shelf room, and gives better satisfaction than any soap or washing-powder I ever used. Pearline washes my floors and woodwork, washes the clothes to perfection, without injury to the daintiest fabric or the gayest print. In fact I use Pearline for all purposes where soap is needed. No microbes where Pyle's Pearline and hot water penetrate. CATTLE FOR MISSOURI.

EFFECT ON THIS STATE OF THE INDIAN TERRITORY EXPULSION ORDER.

Steps That Have Been Taken to Make Missouri the Great Cattle Center of the Country—Arrangements for Driving Stock From the Indian Territory—Missouri as a Ripening Ground.

"THE order for the removal of the cattle from the Cherokee Strip as modified by the President is now being carried out as rapidly as possible," said T. F. Andrews of Vinita, I. T., who is at the Southern. "The extension of the time from Oct. 1 to Dec. 1 will enable us to get out without any great loss, and the danger of a great depression of prices has thereby been obviated. In spite of the predictions made to the contrary, the Strip will be cleared of cattle at least a week before the time named. There were some who were inclined to make some trouble, and to decline to remove their cattle, but we who went to Washington to ask an extension, in conjunction with a majority of owners of the larger herds, took steps that brought the objectors to terms at once.

CLEARING THE TERRITORY.

"We refused to round up with them at all unless they would let the men appointed cut out some cattle as were fit for market and send them off at once, and in this way we have brought every cattle-owner in the strip into line. The smaller owners, who are the only ones that have threatened to make any trouble since the modification of the order was issued, know that they cannot handle their stock alone, and as soon as they saw that we were firm, determined no raise no difficulties. We have arranged matters in a way that can scarcely fail to prove effective. Until Oct. 1 each range owner can ship to market such stock as he pleases. After that date there will be a general assembly of the stockmen, and a round-up, or rather a beef gathering, on the largest scale ever attempted, will be made. Each brand will have a number of men on the ground proportionate to the number of cattle owned, and every herd in the territory will be assembled. Certain points will be named as gathering places, and at each of them all the cattle in the adjacent districts will be assembled. When they are brought together three-fifths will be chosen by men especially deputed for the purpose, which must be shipped by Nov. 1. The presidential order requires that half the cattle in the strip be shipped by Nov. 1, but in order to prevent any controversy on this point we intend to see that three-fifths at least go. After this official selection has been made, the choice resting entirely with the men appointed by the cattle owners, and including the animals in the best condition for the market, the individual owners will be allowed to send out their own men and to select such stock as they desire to send with the first shipment.

A WELL ORGANIZED GATHERING.

"These will be put in charge of experienced trail men and driven to the railroads, where arrangements have been made for sending them to such points as may be desired. The cattle that are not to be shipped by Nov. 1 will be allowed to return to their ranges, but will be fattened before the middle of that month, and driven out of the Territory. In this way everything will be fairly done, and the strip will be fairly cleared before the time set. It is an ill-wind that blows nobody good, and the Missouri farmers, or at least a great many of them, will profit to a very considerable extent by the order expelling the cattle from the Indian Territory. Tens of thousands of head are in no condition for market, but will be so by next year. A large number of us have therefore made arrangements to send out stock to be wintered on farms in the southern and southwestern portions of the State, and I have just made contracts myself for over 7,000 head.

GOOD NEWS FOR MISSOURI.

"The farmers were very quick to see the advantages that this scheme presented, and are eager to take our cattle. They will send those that they own themselves, that are about as heavy as they will ever be, to market, and will replace them by our yearlings and 2-year-olds. A winter on corn or cut forage will add far more to the weight of our grassfed cattle than to those that have always been kept under shelter and regularly fed, and the gain to the farmer will be correspondingly great, as in most cases arrangements have been made to work on shares. So favorably have our propositions been received that steps have been taken to make the arrangement a permanent one. A great many of our cattle, instead of being sent to market, will go to the Kansas and Texas ranges, and their owners are now seeking to perfect agreements by which they can send their half-grown stock to this State for a year's ripening before it is marketed. Experience has proved that the difference in weight between a corn-fed and grass-fed two year-old is not great, the added flesh from better food coming after that time. If the open ranges can be used only for stock cattle and calves, and the Missouri farms simply for ripening stock, the same acreage will be able to grow from 30 to 45 per cent more beef than it can under the present conditions. Several experiments on a small scale have proved successful, but the amount of lean cattle thrown on the ranges by the order of the President gives an opportunity of testing it on a large scale which probably could have been presented in no other manner. It may prove to be a blessing in disguise to us, and must necessarily prove of immense benefit to this State, which is likely to become the great beef State of the Union."

Adopted the Infant.

RIVAL RELIGIONISTS.

A Salvation Army Private's Feud Against Soup Dispensers.

There was a Salvation Army gathering at Ninth and St. Charles streets last night. John H. Forrest was taken out of the place by a policeman charged with disturbing a religious meeting. This morning in the First District Police Court Forrest, who had spent the night in the holdover, was called out for trial. His accuser was a private in the Salvation Army who said that when he had warned Forrest to make less noise the latter had asked him to "come outside and settle this." Sergt. Alonzo Thomas in full uniform went upon the stand and added nothing to the evidence in the case. The defendant then told his story. He had not been boisterous, but had tried to keep others quiet. He had not dared the private to go outside.

Rev. E. T. Colman of Liberty Mission was called by Forrest. The minister said that Forrest had worked at Liberty Mission, dispensing soup to the poor unfortunates who were fed there. The prosecuting witness had also worked there, and had failed to account for $30 that came into his hands.

Mr. Colman would have told more, but Judge Cady interrupted with the comment: "Rival soul savers. Discharged."

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—Money easy at 4@5 per cent. The stock market at the opening this morning was more active than usual of late and first prices were all materially higher than the closing figures of Saturday, the gains extending to ¾ per cent with Union Pacific, Rock Island, St. Paul and Louisville & Nashville showing the greatest advances. The attack upon the Grangers was resumed, however, and the high figures of the opening were not maintained, the general list sympathizing with the weakness in those stocks to a limited extent, though Lackawanna was a marked exception, advancing a small fraction. Burlington & Quincy and Rock Island again felt the bulk of the pressure, and the former yielded to 96¾ and the latter to 83⅜. The changes in the general list were slight, and at noon the market was very dull and rather heavy at small fractions under opening figures.

ON 'CHANGE.

Grain and Flour.

Wheat—The market was heavy and drooped almost from the very opening, closing 1⅜@1½c below Saturday. Although the cables were "sick," to use a trade phraseology, New York lower and the Chicago curb reported ½c off, yet our market opened stiff and ran up ½c as easy as a bird flies. This was only because there was very little for sale, and no one seemed inclined to oppose the bidding up of prices by the bulls. Local receipts were small for Monday, and at all winter wheat points very light, but there was no go to speculation, orders were few and far between, no one seemed to take any particular interest and the early bulge was soon lost. The seaboard markets were all weak and their clearances simply insignificant, New York exporting 1,600 bbls flour and Philadelphia 9,500 bu wheat. Minneapolis came to the front, too, with 455 cars receipts, there was talk of an increase in the visible and every other market declined. Our own sold off 1⅜c, with hardly more than ⅛c reaction on the way down, but rallied ⅜c on the decrease of 140,000 bu in the visible. Afterwards, however, the market began to decline again, reports of a large failure in Chicago having a depressing effect and at the close was weak. Dec. opened at $1.02¾, sold to $1.03, off to $1.01⅜, back to $1.01¾, down to $1.00⅞, closing at $1.00⅞@1.01. May opened at $1.07½ and declined to $1.05⅞ and at close. Sept. sold at 99c to 97c. SPOT GRADES declined in sympathy with futures. The demand for No. 2 red was fully up to the offerings, millers and carriers purchasing most that sold, a little selling for shipment to outside mills. The last sale of regular was at 97¼c. Few other grades were offered, and buyers were rather offish. Sales: No. 2 red—6 cars and 5,000 bu regular at 97¼c, 5,000 bu in St. L. at 97⅜c, 2 cars and 5,000 bu regular and 3 cars Cdit at 97¼c, 2 cars regular 97⅝c, 2 cars E. side at 98c, 12 in E. at 98¼c, 1 in do at 98½c. No. 3 red—1 car in St. L. at 94½; latter bid for E. side, 94c for regular. No. 4—1 car in D. at 90c. No. 2 Turkey—None offered and 92½c the best bid. SAMPLES were lower and business was good at the decline—especially in special bin lots. Millers bought but sparingly, while mixers and rehandlers took hold liberally. Sales: In special bins—1 car No. 1 grade at 74c, 1 rejected at 86c, 1 do No. 4 at 89c, 1 do at 90c, 1 do at 92c, 2 No. 3 at 94c, 4 do at 95c, 1 do at 95½c, 2 No. 3 at 96c, 2 No. 3 at 96½c. East track—2 cars No. 4 88½c, 3 weevily at 95½c, 8 No. 3 at 96½c, 1 at 99c. West track—7 cars at 99c. Sacks—88 at 82c, 19 and 41 at 88c, 59 at 89c, 37, 200, 156, 40 and 232 (latter cheaty) at 90c, 62 and 68 at 92c, 135, 62 and 10 at 94c, 229 at 95c, 52 at 95½c, 28 at 96c, 72 at 96½c, 358 at 97½c, 33, 197, 165 and 195 at 98c, 268, 179 and 150 (latter E. side) at 98½c, 490 at 99c.

Corn—The frost in the North and West did not have such a bullish effect upon the market as it was generally supposed it would have. There was ¼c advance, but not much demand, the shorts showing no particular alarm and rather more inclined to sell some more on the higher prices than to cover what they already had sold. Receipts were moderate. The decrease of 1,033,000 bu in the visible and predictions of frost to-night had a temporarily stimulating effect, but late the whole market weakened and closed ⅛c below yesterday. May opened at 46⅜c, sold off to 46c, back to 46¼c and back to 46c, with latter asked at close. The only other trades were for December at 44c. SPOT GRADES—No. 2 was lower and met only a small car-lot order demand that was readily supplied by sellers. No. 2 white held steadily, a short purchasing all regular offered at 45c. No. 2 color was dull and weak and No. 3 white only salable at 44c in St. L. and C., with 44½c asked for regular. Sales: No. 2—2 cars in C. and 2 in St. L. at 44¾c, 1 in St. L. at 44½c, 1 in A. at 43¾c, 4 in do at 43½c, latter bid for E. side. No. 2 white—18 cars regular at 45c. No. 2 color—2 cars in St. L. at 44½c; same bid for C. and E. side. SAMPLES—50 sks white at 46c, 75 St. Charles at 47c. Sacked lots on orders, 40@48c.

Oats—There was very little speculative trading, a few sales being made for May at 38⅝c to 38½c and at close offered at 38¼c, which was ⅜c below yesterday. SPOT GRADES were dull, as receivers could do better by selling by sample. No. 2 was offered regular at 33⅜c, bid 33c and 33¼c for C., 33½c for E. side. No. 3—32½c bid regular, 33c for C. and D. SAMPLES—There was a better demand from the local trade, besides some buying on order account and higher prices were paid. Sales: Special bin—1 car no grade at 29½c, 1 do at 30c, 1 No. 4 at 31½c, 1 do at 32c, 1 No. 3 and 1 No. 3 color 33c, 1 do at 33½c, 1 No. 2 at 33½c, 1 do at 33¾c, 2 No. 3 white at 34c, 2 do at 34½c, 1 No. 2 Northern at 35c, 4 do at 35½c, 4 choice do at 36c, 2 No. 2 white at 36c. 216 sacks at 36c, sks in. Sacked lots on orders, 40@43c.

Rye—Lower and dead dull at the decline. A car No. 3 sold this side early in the day at 62c, but afterwards it was offered at 60c without a bid. No. 2 offered regular at 65c, bid 63c and for E. side 64c bid. No. 4 offered at 58c and no bid.

Barley—Brewers were in the market and bought fairly. Sales—1 car Nebraska at 60c, 3 Iowa at 71½c, 2 cars and 8,000 bu on p. t. Quotations: Medium, 55@60c; prime, 65@70c; choice, 75c; fancy, 80c.

Flour—Market almost at a standstill, as buyers and sellers were wide apart. The former would not purchase with any freedom, save at concessions, and holders were generally firm. Sales: 1 car skd at $2.25@2.55, 3 cars do on p. t.

Quotations range: XXX, $2.90@3; family, $3.25@3.35, choice, $3.50@3.70; fancy, $4.35@4.50; extra fancy, $4.70@4.80; patents, $5@5.15. Prices for lots on levee and on this side.

Provisions.

The market was rather firmer in tone and for bacon there was an active demand, several round lots boxed and loose selling, including loose shorts at 6.20c. Buyers and sellers were apart on dry salt meats to arrive, though fully-cured c'ribs were offered c. and f. at 5.35c to 5.42½c, and for a fancy lot of 100,000 lbs 5.40c was bid. ON THE STREET.

[The Post-Dispatch quotations are for lots in first hands unless stated otherwise. On orders higher.]

The heavy rain of yesterday and last night caused light receipts of fruits and vegetables. There was only a limited number of buyers on the street, and the usual quietness of Monday prevailed. The season on home-grown grapes is about at an end—the first arrivals of Ohio came in this morning. No improvement to note in poultry.

Commercial Notes.

Sure enough, frost this time. Warmer weather will probably follow in the wake of this cold spell.

New Orleans cleared Saturday 90,000 bu corn and 11,000 bu wheat for Liverpool.

Early cables reported wheat depressed, with anxious sellers, and California 1½d lower. Weather favorable and quality of new crop better than expected.

The traveling man for a leading grain house here says from his observation on a trip he is just back from, Missouri will have fully as large a corn crop as last year, and Iowa and Nebraska a good crop, except in the southern portion of Nebraska, where the prospects are poor.

An English paper says of oats: "So far the indications are for a year of comparative plenty in Europe. The yield in Russia appears to be satisfactory. Sweden promises an unusually large crop. France has grown more than in 1889, and in this country the yield will be considerably above the average."

The exports of wheat and flour from both coasts for the week were 1,575,672 bu, against 2,562,322 bu the previous week and 2,679,007 bu for the corresponding week last year. Since July 1 the aggregate is 20,545,147 bu, against 19,720,560 bu the corresponding time in 1889.

Bradstreet's reported the available stocks of wheat Aug. 30, on both coasts, 27,711,000 bu, the smallest total reported on a similar date since 1882. East of the Rocky Mountains the avilable wheat supplies have continued to decrease each week down to date. August has of late years always furnished increased stocks. In August, 1890, the eastern coast available supply decreased 1,397,000 bu, but in August, 1889, it increased 4,800,000 bu and in 1888, 4,862,000 bu.

A late report says of the Danubian corn crop, which is the greatest competitor of America, that on Aug. 16 the crop on the left of the Danube had suffered from the drouth and in places was quite parched up. Right of the Danube, owing to the uninterrupted great heat for nearly six weeks, the fields were in very bad condition, and only a medium or under medium crop could be expected. Right of the Theiss the corn was almost everywhere backward through the prolongation of heat and was generally in weak condition.

Winnipeg Commercial: In Manitoba the past week or two has shown the necessity for reliable weather reporting. The recent frosts have caused a feeling of great uneasiness, and in the entire absence of any recognized service of this nature, people have to trust to hap-hazard information, upon which to form an opinion as to the results of the frost. Under such conditions, it is the wildest guesswork to undertake to say what damage has or has not been done, and the result will not be known with any degree of certainty until the grain is marketed.

Reuter's Agency says of the French crop: "It has scarcely ever been so difficult to form an approximate estimate as to the harvest in France as at the present moment. The indications certainly point to the fact that the result of the labors of the past few days lead to fresh disappointments. Last week total of wheat estimates 105 to 110 hectolitres (36,000,000 qrs to 37,800,000 qrs), and now it is feared that the small figures will scarcely be reached."

Chicago Market Letter.

Private Wire to J. P. Grier.

CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—The wheat market closes weak, with Dec. offered at $1.01. The early advices from the Northwest were all bullish, and our local operators were disposed to assist some advance, but the constant selling by brokers led to a decline. Outside business has been light. This, with lower and depressed cables and no export inquiry, more than offset the decrease in the visible supply. The movement of the northwestern crops is being used as an argument for still lower prices. At the moment there is no new feature in the situation, and with the small stocks in sight and the light movement there should be a reaction upwards near at hand. We look for higher price in the future.

Corn is weak. Frost in Nebraska and Iowa caused a firm opening, but considerable long lines were sold out on the advance. The trade in oats was unimportant.

Provisions firm and fair business doing.

F. G. LOGAN & CO.

Special to J. C. Ewald & Co.

CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—Wheat—The market has been moderately active and quite weak. The cables from London, Liverpool and Berlin were all weak and decidedly lower, reporting demand slow. No export was reported from New York and the Northwest sent selling orders. Under these influences there was free unloading of long wheat, and although an effort was made once or twice to sustain the market it closed at bottom prices. About the only bullish factor was a decrease in the visible supply, to which very little attention was paid, and it scarcely created a ripple in the market. Indications favor a further decline to-morrow.

Corn—A heavy frost was reported in portions of Nebraska and Iowa, on the strength of which the market was advanced about ½c. with a fair volume of trade. Many believe, however, that a light frost would do no serious damage, as the new crop is practically safe from it. The strength of to-day's market was due furthermore to an active cash demand, under which Sept. sold within 2c of the May option. We don't believe that this will continue, as receipts are liable to be heavier as soon as the crop is considered out of danger.

Provisions dull and rather weak. Hutch was a free seller of pork, lard and ribs during the early morning.

Belleville.

A fire occurred about 3 o'clock this morning in a two-story brick tenement house on the corner of Richland and Fourth streets. How it originated is not known. It burned out the interior, leaving only the walls standing. The building was the property of Mrs. David Ogle, and was worth about $200. There were four tenants in the place, each of whom had household goods more or less damaged.

CITY NEWS.

We are in possession of information to the effect that "The Choice Cullings" in new fall goods advertised in yesterday's papers by D. Crawford & Co. are of such a nature that the same goods cannot be procured elsewhere. The army of department buyers for this house has been and is still on the "war path" for novelties in the different lines; we can therefore assure intending visitors to the Great Broadway Bazaar that if they are really anxious to procure new and attractive goods at correspondingly low prices they will not be disappointed.

LIQUOR AND WOMEN

The Cause of a Fatal Affray—Lexington Disaster—Missouri Matters.

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 8.—A shooting and a murder occurred at the little town of Pleasant Hill, thirty-five miles from here, late Saturday night. Two farmers were shot, one killed instantly and the other perhaps fatally wounded. It was the outgrowth of a drunken spree, in which liquor and women played prominent parts. The shooting occurred in the house of Mattie Sneed, and there were some fifteen or twenty people there at the time. John Parker was the man killed and Oliver Kimball the one wounded. Parker being drunk attacked Kimball, and a struggle ensued during which the lights were put out. The two men had a pistol between them and somehow it was discharged. When the lights were turned on Parker was dead and the other man lying on the floor badly wounded.

LEXINGTON, Sept. 8.—The wreck on the Missouri Pacific of Saturday night is worse than was at first supposed. Engineer Welch is charged with criminal carelessness. The mistake was made by Welch not reading his orders, and when the collision occurred the train was going down a steep grade at a high rate of speed. Welch is almost crazy. The funerals of several of the victims took place yesterday.

MARBLE HILL, Sept. 8.—The body of Samuel Rhodes was found in a strip of woods some distance from here yesterday. He left his home Friday with a rifle ostensibly to hunt squirrels. A bullet hole was found in his breast, fired from his rifle. It is believed by some that he committed suicide, though the wound might have resulted from an accident.

Farmer Wakefield Sets Fire to His House and Shoots His Daughter.

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 8.—At Demassville, Ky., yesterday Mr. C. F. Wakefield, a farmer, presumably insane, set fire to his dwelling and fired a shot gun at his daughter while she was trying to save some of her clothing, the shot taking effect in her shoulder, neck and back of her head. He than ran into the house saying he would burn himself up, but his wife, after a hard struggle, dragged him out. Neighbors then arrived and took the man in charge. The house was wholly destroyed. Miss Wakefield's injuries are not necessarily fatal. Wakefield was taken to Newport, Ky., where he was placed in jail. He will be tried on Wednesday for arson and shooting with intent to kill.

The Swedes' Celebration.

The twenty-third anniversary of the first landing of Swedes in America was celebrated at Rinkelville yesterday under the auspices of the Swedish National Society of St. Louis. There was a full programme of sports and games, but the rain interfered with its being carried out in its entirety. Mayor Noonan attended and in an interesting address praised the Swedes for their industrious and law-abiding habits. Prof. P. Clausen of Minneapolis, painter of the Yellowstone Park Scenorama at the Exposition, also spoke.

Horsford's Acid Phosphate.

DR. EPHRAIM BATEMAN, Cedarville, N. J., says: "I have used it for several years not only in my practice, but in my own individual case, and consider it under all circumstances one of the best nerve tonics that we possess. For mental exhaustion or overwork it gives renewed strength and vigor to the entire system."

DEMPSEY AND BURKE.

MACON THINKS A MATCH BETWEEN THEM IMPROBABLE.

Pugilism Booming in New Orleans—Chicago Defeats St. Louis at Athletics—The Salford Harriers Team—The Atalantas Challenged by the Bradfords—Trouble in the New England Crew—General Sporting News.

IT IS plain to be seen that Jack Dempsey has learned wisdom through his unfortunate combat with "The Marine," writes Macon, and in response to the offer of the Ormonde Club to hang up a purse for a fight between himself and Jack Burke, he states explicitly that he intends hereafter to confine himself wholly to men of his class, and that he will fight only with men weighing 154 pounds. This effectually disposes of Jack Burke's hopes, for it would be impossible, I am told, for the Irish lad to get down even to 160 pounds, and be in any thing like proper condition. Jack is perfectly willing to fight either Tod Prichard or Toff Wall at 11 stone, and it would not surprise me if he met one or the other of these worthies in an English ring before Christmas. His proposition to toss a penny to decide whether the fight, if he meets an English champion, shall be in this country or in England, will, I think, draw out a proposition to give him a good bonus for waiving a desire to fight in this country. Fitzsimmons, by the way, has gone back to California, and this makes me think that the famous club over which Mr. Fuldo presides with such efficiency sees its way to a resumption of fistic sport. If such is the case I feel sure it will offer a big purse for a go between Jack and the big, long-legged Australian. Dempsey looks in perfect health now, and his Eastern friends, now that they have had a chance to see him and hear him personally explain his defeat by La Blanche, have all full confidence in him as ever, and if some of the New Orleans sports who have seen Fitzsimmons perform have faith enough in him to bet $5,000 or $10,000 on his chances with Dempsey, they can have their money covered in short order by making the fact public. I do not change my opinion a whit, and I regard Fitzsimmons as the most dangerous man of his weight that is in the list of probable candidates for a match with "the Nonpariel." If they meet, and Jack does him, he will indeed merit the title which Jack Randall was the first to bear. He will probably hear news from San Francisco within a week or ten days.

I hardly think Jack Burke will care much for a match with Dave Campbell. Perhaps I should say no English club will care to hang up a purse for them. Campbell five years ago was easily defeated by Dempsey. He has grown a good deal since then, but to-day Jack could, I think, give him a stone in weight and a beating. Campbell's claim that he fought a draw with Jem Corbett has, as I have heretofore shown, a cloud on it. As an American, however, I would like to see him get on with Burke and beat him, too, at that.

Pugilism at New Orleans.

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—Pat Duffy of New Orleans, who is one or the best-known sporting men in the country, is stopping at the St. James Hotel. Speaking of the outlook in the direction of pugilism, Mr. Duffy said last night to a reporter: "Since the bottom dropped out of the California Club, glove fighting has drifted down my way and there are more pugilists in New Orleans now than ever before. I believe it is the new Mecca for the men who win fame and shekels with their fists, and there will be some lively encounters at our clubs this winter. We have three good clubs, the Audobon, Columbia and the Young Men's Gymnastic Club and I dare say any of these would give $5,000 for Dempsey and Fitzsimmons. The Columbia people have made an offer of that amount and the others might bid higher if there was any chance to get the fight. The coming fight between Carroll and Bowen is being discussed extensively down South and the home man is the favorite. I believe it will be a great fight for the men are equally matched."

The Chicago Athletes Won.

The Wanderers' Cricket and Athletic Club of Chicago defeated the Missouri Amateur Athletic Club in the inter-club contest at Sportsman's Park yesterday afternoon. There were twelve standard scratch events and five points were scored for first, three for second and one for third. The Wanderers won by a score of 62 points to 46. John Ryan, a new member of the Chicago team, broke two Western records with the weights. He put the 56-pound shot 27 feet 5½ inches, breaking the record 2 feet 7 inches and he threw the 16-pound shot 41 feet 1½ inches, which beats the record 1 foot 5½ inches. The games resulted as follows:

One hundred yards' run—W. C. Skillinger, Chicago, first; Ed Butcher, Chicago, second; O. J. Fath, St. Louis, third. Time, 10 4-5

Throwing the 56-pound weight—John Ryan, Chicago, first; Dan Leahy, St. Louis, second; Miles McDonough, St. Louis, third. Distance, 27 feet 5½ inches.

Bradfords Challenge the Atalantas.

From the New York Sun.

Still smarting over their defeat for the amateur championship, the Bradfords sent the following dispatch to this city yesterday:

BOSTON, Sept. 7.—President Berkley of the Bradford Boat Club issued a challenge to-day to the eight-oared and senior four-oared shell crews of the Atalanta Boat Club of New York to row on any fair course for banners and prizes, and will also make a single scull race and a double, and will not go outside of the Bradford eight for material.

Capt. Van Raden says that he has not received any official challenge from the Bradford Boat Club, nor does he expect any. The Atalanta crew, he says, defeated the Bradfords at the national regatta in the most closely contested race ever rowed at a national regatta and says he cannot see why the Bradfords should now issue challenges when they well know that the Atalanta crew are out of training. However, should he receive an official challenge he will probably accept it and name a day, which will likely be in 1891.

One of the most prominent officers of the champion Atalanta Boat Club was seen by the Sun reporter last night. He said: "It is not probable that the Atalantas will pay any attention to the Bradfords' challenge whatever; but, of course, Capt. Theodore Van Raden will have all to say about that. It is improbable that the oldest rowing organization in America will be dragged into a match with a crew whom they have defeated so signally as they did the Bradfords. It's all nonsense for the Boston oarsmen to talk about the race being sold, as the time made by both crews proves that they were rowing as fast as possible. Our crew rowed in their old boat, and any time, under the same conditions, can lower the record which they achieved in the national regatta by at least six seconds." Capt. Van Raden stated immediately after the national regatta that the champion eight had been disbanded for the season and that they would not row together again in a race until next season.

The Bradford Troubles.

From the Boston Herald.

If the Bradford eight has any idea that they can beat the famous Atalantas again a chance is offered them to try it. There has been so much talk about the Bradfords being defeated by reason of the race being sold out that the impression has gone abroad that they might have won at the National, although good judges say that they were in no condition to have done so. Now a chance is offered the Bradfords to prove whether they can leave their famous rivals behind in a mile and a half race, if they want to try it. Mr. Charles H. Thayer of the Point of Pines said yesterday that he would give prizes worth $250 to the winning crew for another match race between the Bradfords and the Atalantas, providing that the race be rowed at the Point of Pines before Sept. 15. This amount of money would purchase nine very fine prizes for the members of the winning eight. It might be thought that the Atalantas would refuse to row the Bradfords again after having won this year's championship, but the Atalantas are true sportsmen, and row solely for the sport of the thing and nothing else. It is believed, in view of this fact, that they might be willing to come on here and prove to the satisfaction of all that the Bradfords are not in it with them now. Possibly, were the Bradfords to get into proper shape, they would be in it after all. If so the people of Boston would be glad to know it. A victory over the Atalantas now would be a big feather in the caps of the Bradfords, and certainly it is worth trying for on their part. Excellent water can be found at the Point of Pines, and such a match race, after all that has happened, would attract thousands of spectators and would give a great boom to amateur rowing. It is sincerely hoped here that the Atalanta eight will look favorably upon the affair, and come on and give the Bradfords a chance to prove whether they beat them on their merits or because the race was "sold."

A match race is likely to be the outcome of the trouble in the Bradford eight. Oarsman John F. Cumming of Worcester, about whom there has been so much talk of late in connection with the race with the Atalantas on Lake Quinsigamond, wants to row Stroke John Ryan of the Bradfords. Cumming rows No. 3 in the same boat. There seems to be some little feeling between them, and, as a result of this, there is a chance that a match race may result. Ryan, it is said, has criticised Cumming's stroke. He has said, it is alleged, that it was not a good one, and that he finished with his hands not close enough in front of him. Worse than that, he is said to have remarked that Cumming was "no good," and that he was a "back number." To be sure, Cumming has been rowing for something like sixteen or eighteen years, but he does not think that he is "on the shelf," as Ryan has said. He isn't stuck on Ryan's style of rowing himself, and could criticise it if he wanted to do so.

The Salford Harriers.

From the New York Sun.

N. D. Morgan, the 100-yard champion of England, will visit this country with the Salford Harriers Team, and J. H. Hardwick, the Secretary of the Harriers, writes to President Carr of the Manhattan Athletic Club that everything is progressing smoothly. He will send a photograph of the complete team in a week or so. W. M. Cristie of the Manhattans, who has been competing in England, will accompany the English team over. In notifying Mr. Carr of Morgan's acquisition, Secretary Hardwick says:

"Our team now includes, besides myself, five amateurs, who are all present-day champions, viz.: E. W. Parry, National Cross Country champion, Northern Counties three-quarter mile steeplechase champion and two mile steeplechase champion of England; W. H. Morton, Northern Counties Cross Country champion and world's record holder from fourteen to twenty miles; N. D. Morgan, 100-yard champion of England, and 100-yard Northern Counties champion; T. L. Nicholas, quarter-mile champion of England, 220-yard Northern counties champion and quarter-mile Northern counties champion, and G. H. Morris, 1,000-yard Northern counties champion. You will thus see that our team is a representative one at all distances from 100 yards to twenty miles.

The St. Louis Sunday game has been dropped, and the great combination of champions—for the M. A. C. "cracks" will accompany the party—will give athletic meetings at Detroit, Chicago, Buffalo, Boston, Philadelphia and this city. It is thought that these meetings will accomplish a great deal of good in the way of popularizing amateur athletic sport throughout the country.

Swimming.

William Bryce, the young Scotch swimmer who finished less than seven yards behind Alex Meffert in the mile race for the championship, had another race with Meffert on Monday at Braun's baths, New York. He beat the champion after a close race. Meffert's friends arranged a match with Bryce afterward for a $250 gold medal. The race will be decided at the races of the New York Swimming Club on Sept. 18, at Bensonhurst-by-the-Sea. Herman Braun will try and beat Burt Johnson's record on this date.

Is He a Blacklisted Man?

From the Cincinnati Enquirer.

Glenalvin, the fine little second-baseman of the Chicagos, is not the young blood he would have people believe if there is any foundation for the rumors floating around the Tri-State League. It was whispered among the Tri-State Leaguers long before Glenalvin joined the Chicagos that his name was not Glenalvin; that he had been blacklisted by some minor league season before, and adopted the alias of Glenalvin to conceal his identity. Anyhow, he seized upon a very queer alias, as Glenalvin is a name you rarely see. If these stories are true, it may have an effect on the games Glenalvin has been playing. It would be tough on Anson to awake to the fact that he had been playing a disqualified player. Maybe these rumors are idle ones.

Want an Athletic Association.

BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 8.—What will probably prove to be a successful effort is now being made to form here an athletic organization similar to these now existing in several cities and which as a body are known as the National Amateur Athletic Union. In the event of the success of the scheme the Baltimore Association will apply for admission as a member of the Union and participate with other associations in the contests that are held once a year for supremacy in athletic sports. Should all the clubs mentioned as possible members of the union enter it, the association would begin with a membership of 600 or 700.

The Athletics Defeated.

Only one championship game was played in the American Association yesterday, and that was at Gloucester Point, where the Athletics were defeated by Toledo by a score of 9 to 6.

THOUGHT HE WAS SHOCKED.

A Very Ludicrous Scene in the Grand Opera-House Lobby.

A "friendly Indian," who had reached the stage when he wanted to give away $20 bills, ambled up to the window of the Grand Opera-house last night and procured a ticket of admission in exchange for a silver "cart wheel." He fixed his eye on the door, rolled his cigar from one side of his mouth to the other and started. His aim was perfect. He sailed through the portal without scraping on either side.

"Is your cigar lighted, sir?" politely asked the doorkeeper.

The apostheosis of rum stopped and looked at him, but spake he never a word.

"Is your cigar lighted?" came again from the doorkeeper, and the visitor gazed for a moment at his questioner, then turned and walked out into the lobby.

"Wherz Shorge?" he asked of a bystander.

"George who?"

"Shorge McManus."

"There he is, sir, standing by the window."

The offended gentleman walked over to where the genial manager stood and complained that he had been insulted. Mr. McManus endeavored to convince him that his pride was unnecessarily bruised, but he wanted to debate the question.

Standing in the lobby are two little radiators which have not yet been screwed to the steam pipes, and when the alcoholic complainer tired of his efforts to stand alone he leaned his arm and much of his weight on one of these while he continued to bemoan his unkindly treatment.

Presently he swayed, tottered and fell flat on his back on the floor. The radiator tipped, then rocked on its feet, but finally settled back and stood quietly in its place. The fallen victim of strong drink was helped to his feet and he backed off to the farthest wall, keeping both eyes fixed on that radiator. Gradually he worked his way around to where Mr. McManus was standing and with tears in his voice said:

"Shorge, that was an awful trick to play on me."

"What, Mich? What do you mean?"

"To lay me down in front of the Grand Opera-house."

"Why, I didn't lay you down. What are you talking about?"

"Oh, yes you did. I didn't think you'd do that."

"Why, I didn't. You fell down yourself."

"Oh no, Shorge, I felt the shock. That thing's got 'lectricity in it." Mr. McManus wanted to show him that he was wrong, but he wouldn't go near the radiator. He backed out of the door and waving his hand said:

"My name aint Kemmler, Shorge," and disappeared in the darkness.

Smoke and Profanity.

It is nearly two weeks since the Kansas Oil Co.'s works at Twentieth and Morgan streets was burned. Smoke is still rising from the ruins. This morning some one who should have been in bed saw the smoke and turned in an alarm. Firemen pulled from their warm beds by this unnecessary alarm disinfected the air in the vicinity and retired.

If you feel "out of sorts," cross and peevish, take Dr. J. H. McLean's Sarsaparilla; cheerfulness will return and life will acquire new zest.

A NARROW ESCAPE FROM A CONFLAGRATION AT THE CITY HALL.

The Telephone Burned Out Last Night and the Closet in Which It Was Badly Scorched—Remarkable Display of Electrical Pyrotechnics on Eighth and Pine Streets.

THE City Hall is still standing, but only because of the intervention of providence. There is no reason why the entire building was not destroyed by fire last night. The telephone in the office of the Secretary of the Council was burned to a cinder and the walls and ceiling of the closet in which it was were burnt and scorched. The wood against the wall was burned to a depth of an inch. The closet was closed, and that fact alone saved the old shell from complete destruction. The fire was smothered, but had it not been it would have reached such proportions that it would have been beyond control.

ELECTRICAL DEMONSTRATIONS.

There were other electrical demonstrations last night of a startling nature brought about by the storm and a miscellaneous jumbling of street-railroad, telephone and electric-light wires. The display of electrical pyrotechnics given on Eighth and Pine streets last night was as brilliant and beautiful as it was dangerous and had not the men of Hook and Ladder Co. No. 3 come to the rescue the Pine street electric cars would probably have been at a standstill all night. It was very likely that the complications on Pine street were the cause of the fire in the City Hall box, as the point where the trouble was is on a line from the Telephone Central Station to the City Hall.

How the thing started will be hard to discover. The wind was blowing hard for a while about 8 o'clock last night, and a drizzling rain made everything a good electric conductor. The atmosphere was heavily laden with the fluid, and the conditions were most decidedly calculated to make trouble. The wind swaying the wires from side to side brought two of them together. Then the circus began. The guard wires over the motor wire of the electric road were burned and fell to the ground. Next we are light wire got into the game and was soon blazing in a dazzling way at the point of contact. For perhaps a half minute it shot out balls and sprays of blinding fire, then it parted and the two ends dropped to the street. One of them fell on the rail of the car track and glowed and shone for a few moments like a red hot coal. The glow began to brighten and spread up the wire for a few inches. Then suddenly it flashed out with all the brilliancy of lightning. A flame of white light shot up from the track twenty feet into the air, and in another instant the copper wire had been burned into gas to a point beyond the rail. This broke the connection there, and the fire ceased to blaze.

Then it was that the men from the hook and ladder company came with their ladders and their reppers and cleared away the tangle. The electric cars were stopped for two hours, and several wires, whose exact purpose is not known, were burned. It is supposed that it was about that time that the telephone in the City Hall caught fire.

DIDN'T KNOW WHAT HAD OCCURRED.

There were only two persons in the building at the time. One was the night watchman, whose report for each hour during the night read, "all right." The other was Sergt. McGrew, who was in the corner of the building farthest removed from the council chamber. He said this morning that while the storm was in progress he figured out mentally what he should do in case the building was struck by lightning or caught fire, but that he had no suspicion of the fact that there was a fire in the building at the time. Chief Lindsay looked over the location of the telephone this morning with Building Commissioner Furlong and declared it absolutely unsafe to leave the instrument there any longer.

The Secretary's office of the Council is on the Market street side of the building right at the head of Eleventh street, on the east side of the room. A width of about five feet has been turned into closets. The one in which the telephone is is used as a cloak-room when the Council is in session. The telephone is on a partition of wood which separates that closet from the next, which is piled to the ceiling with the printed bills and ordinances which are used in the Assembly. There was last night about four or five hundred pounds of loose paper in the closet, piled upon shelves of flimsy pine wood. Adjoining this closet is one which is packed with records in manuscript, all of which was dry as tinder. A better place to start a successful conflagration could not be found outside of the Register's office and once well started the Fire Department never could have stopped it.

REARRANGEMENT OF WIRES.

It is very probable now that the city officials will cause a rearrangement of the wires in the building as there are a good many of them used for the various telephones, all of which are in closets or boxes except those in the Mayor's private office and in the office of the Assessor and Collector of Water Rates.

Trouble was reported by all of the lighting companies and by the telephone company, the latter suffering the most of all.

Bad Way to Provide.

Henry Jackson, during the heat of yesterday and in anticipation of to-day's low temperature, stole a coat from Wm. Spillers of 804 North Front street. He was arrested with the coat on, and will probably regret his violation of the law of property at the Work-house.
